

OLD GLORY SENDS OUT SOS

COOLIDGE SAID TO LEAN TOWARD HUGHES IN 1928

Field of 11 Potential O. P. Candidates.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The struggle for the Republican nomination for President next year is opening with a multitude of "possibilities," but, up to date, no general candidates.

There seems to prevail a feeling that a dark horse is going to win, and, with Arthur Gov. Lowden of Illinois the only recognized aspirant so far, his name appears to be maneuvering for an advantageous dark horse position—either the better.

Elites in Public View.

The field of potential nominees now numbers eleven men, ranging in age from 56 to 74. Here they are in the order of age, beginning with the oldest:

- Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, 77.
- Former Gov. Lowden of Illinois, 64.
- John J. Fanning, 64.
- Former Secretary of State Hughes, 65.
- Senator Borah of Idaho, 62.
- President Dawes, 62.
- Former Governor of Indiana, 62.
- Senator Nicholas Longworth, 57.
- President Coolidge, 55.
- Senator Willis of Ohio, 55.
- Secretary of Commerce Hoover, 53.

Coolidge Believed Out.

President Coolidge is placed in the line because of the number of Republican delegates who hold to the opinion that, despite his "log-pole" reputation, his nomination, if it becomes necessary for the party to draft him, will be the best available, however, it is that President Coolidge intends his withdrawal from the field.

Lowden's Strength Certain.

The strength of the former Illinois governor, it is expected, will emanate chiefly from the west and south, as in 1924, when he went into the convention with 21 1/2 votes and had 31 1/2 per cent of the high water mark.

Hoover's Cabinet Status.

It has been assumed that if he should become a candidate, Mr. Hoover would resign from the cabinet. It might hope to have the support of members of the administration, but it would be precarious, it was considered, to remove any suspicion that he was retaining his position to advantage in the administration.

Mr. Hoover has made it known, however, that he does not contemplate resigning from the cabinet. The inference is that he does not contemplate resigning from the cabinet, and that he is not planning to allow his friends to place his name on the primary ballot. So, unless he changes his mind, he will go into the next campaign.

Hit with Coolidge.

There is a widespread impression that all the presidential possibilities President Coolidge would prefer to see Mr. Hoover nominated. Mr. Hoover has been high in the councils of the President. There has been plenty of evidence that the President has been influenced in many important decisions by the able secretary of commerce.

The indications are that the President and Mr. Hoover are not in such close contact as formerly. It is said that Mr. Hoover has been in the President's company on the Niagara trip and that this rift caused Mr. Coolidge last spring to inform the President that even if Secretary of State Hughes were to resign, Mr. Hoover would not be promoted to the office.

The man Mr. Coolidge probably would favor for the nomination, is Mr. Hughes. Incidentally, the politicians did not look on the Hughes statement as precluding the entry of the former secretary of state into the nomination contest. Some of them thought Mr. Hughes' insistence that Coolidge will be nominated, as a support for Coolidge support.

THE BENEFICIAL EFFECTS OF A SUMMER VACATION

In May Mr. Hughes thought he was too old to run for the presidency.

But after a vacation abroad, about the second of August, he—has been exercising very strenuously every day on shipboard.

'REVELRY' WITHDRAWN FROM PHILADELPHIA STAGE; 'UNPATRIOTIC'

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Following tonight's performance of "Revelry," Maurice Watkins' dramatization of the book by Samuel Hopkins Adams, the play was withdrawn from the Garrick theater here by order of the Stanley Company of America, lessee of the playhouse. The action was made known an hour after Judge James Gay Gordon Jr., in a decision on a bill of equity, had refused to issue an injunction against the play, but had denounced it as "false, base, and indecent, and slanderous of the dead."

SEIZE SUSPECT AS "CAT" BANDIT AFTER BATTLE

William E. Mitchell, 23, of 6777 Pine street, said to fit the description of the so-called cat bandit who has robbed and attacked north side women for months, was arrested last night by Policemen John P. O'Brien and August Croft of the Summerdale station and identified by Mrs. Frances Jones, 25, 5439 Sheridan road, as the man who earlier in the evening attempted to hold her up at Bryn Mawr avenue and the lake.

Windows were smashed and the front doorway was partly wrecked early this morning when a bomb was exploded at the front of the H-Class garage, operated by Crossman Bros., at 2419 Fifth avenue. Damages were estimated at about $2,500.

Widow of Slain Man Collapses at Lewis' Cell

Harry J. (Lefty) Lewis, sitting in a cell at the Marquette police station yesterday after his surrender on the charge of having murdered Max Braverman, junk dealer, didn't know that the widow of the slain man had crumpled to the floor in an outer room just before she was to have confronted him.

Lewis didn't know that from the day her husband was brought home to her dying, the light had gone out of life for the mother of the five Braverman children, broken with years of toil and bitter poverty. She had not minded the years, nor the toll, nor the poverty. But the loss of her husband, robbed her of any desire to live.

Determined to See Suspect.

Fortified, she said, by her determination to face "that murderer of my husband," she made the trip to the police station yesterday when told that Lewis had surrendered, only to collapse and be taken home in a precarious condition.

With her thirteen year old daughter hovering watchfully about her, back in her own shabby rooms, she dropped into a low chair, covered her eyes with work stiffened fingers, and sobbed: "O, my husband! Nobody cares for me any more."

The little girl started up, throwing her arms about the figure in the faded old blue house dress, whose toes poked through her pathetically broken shoes, and warned:

"Now, mother, you're crying again. You know the doctor said it would exhaust you."

Acting State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse reflected the sentiment of Mrs. Braverman when he asserted that he had ordered the evidence against Lewis to be prepared today for presentation to the grand jury this week. He said he had a death penalty case.

Braverman was slain at a meeting of junk dealers when he resisted the demands for money made by so-called organizers of a trade association, according to the police. Lewis has admitted being present at the meeting, but he denies shooting Braverman.

CROWD WATCHES RACING HOUNDS; CASHIER ROBBED

While racing dogs were hot in pursuit of the elusive electric bunny last night in the seventh race at the South Shore Kennel club, 533 and Collins avenue, two neatly dressed men left the track and headed for James Thorpe, ticket seller, at the entrance gate.

A crowd of 4,000 watching the race saw Mont Clair romp in a winner, but not one witnessed the robbery, it was reported. No attempt was made to hold up the betting booths, the robbers containing themselves with $400 taken from Thorpe. Owing to the hot, stuffy evening, Thorpe had left the door to his office open.

NEW YORK MAN IN DEATH LEAP; HITS PASSERBY

Client Runs Amuck Over $500 Fee.

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—A crazed man, obsessed with the idea that he had been tricked in a petty real estate deal, where the sum in dispute was only $500, opened fire with a pistol today in the midst of a conference in his lawyer's office on the sixth floor of the building at 19 West 44th street.

Result: Three dead and two injured.

The man shot his own lawyer, whose body was found in the street below; he shot a real estate broker who died outside in the hall; he shot the broker's lawyer who died later in a hospital.

How or why the crazed man's own lawyer happened to get out the window no one knows. It was presumed he was attempting to dodge the bullets. But in falling, the body struck two pedestrians, breaking the back of one and severely bruising the other.

Killer Is Named.

Others in the law office where the shooting occurred told the police the killer was Charles M. Bernstein, proprietor of the "Charles Shop," a women's specialty store in Baltimore, and a real estate speculator in a small way.

Bernstein later surrendered to the police. His acting lawyer, VICTOR A. STEINBERG, Bernstein's lawyer, found dead in the street.

CHARLES HERKOVITZ, a real estate broker with office at 565 5th avenue, shot twice in the left shoulder and the upper right part of the back, found dead in the street outside Bernstein's office.

HENRY C. COHEN, Herkovitz's lawyer, with office at 355 5th avenue, shot once in the left shoulder, found semi-conscious in Bernstein's office, and died in Baltimore hospital.

ROBERT McGOVERN, stage manager for Jane Owen's "Road to Rome" company, struck by Steinberg's falling body and taken to Baltimore hospital, unconscious, with a fractured spine.

JOHN STEINBLAU, substitute postal clerk, struck by Steinberg's falling body, shocked and bruised.

Deal Over a Lease.

The cause of the tragedy was a deal between Bernstein and Herkovitz over a lease on two five story loft buildings at 621 and 623 5th avenue. Bernstein three years ago bought a lease on the lease, and a $500 commission was paid to Herkovitz as broker.

Since last April Bernstein had been negotiating with Herkovitz to sublease the property to Herman Heldenreich, president of H. Heldenreich & Sons, Inc., dealers in leather goods. They entered into a contract under which Heldenreich paid a deposit for the lease, and a $500 commission was paid to Herkovitz as broker.

The deal collapsed about two months ago, because Heldenreich charged that Bernstein had misrepresented the amount of rentals obtained from the loft. Bernstein refused to pay Herkovitz his commission as broker, which Herkovitz demanded, and he refused to return the deposit which Heldenreich had paid, according to information obtained by the police.

Called for a Conference.

Bernstein arrived at the office of his attorney, Steinberg, today for a conference. Herkovitz, the broker, had arrived with his attorney, Cohen. Herkovitz, Cohen, and Steinberg were closed in Steinberg's private office. When Bernstein went in he immediately began a trade against Herkovitz, Cohen, and Heldenreich, according to Cohen, who was able to tell the police only a few details of the affair before he died.

Suddenly, Cohen said, Bernstein drew a pistol and began to shoot. Cohen ducked behind a small table, he said, and Bernstein shot him.

What happened thereafter Cohen could not say, and the police were able only to surmise what happened by surveying the results.

Baby Visits Vacant Flat; Sulphur Fumes Kill Her

Alice Willette, 2, of 6121 Mills avenue, walked yesterday into a vacant apartment above her mother's.

The flat had been freshly fumigated. Several hours later she was missed. Her body was found where she had been asphyxiated. The Woodlawn police are holding Emil Bremer, janitor, 6123 Mills avenue, who fumigated the flat. Bremer said he had used sulphur candles.

Autos Kill 8; 2 Fire Trucks Injure 6 More

Fire trucks figured in two traffic crashes yesterday in which six men were injured, two of whom may die.

Robert O'Donnell, 37, fireman of truck company No. 29, was crushed, perhaps fatally, as the apparatus on which he was riding to a fire smashed head-on into a dairy truck at South Halsted and West 75th streets. It was his day off and he was working in place of a friend, but was to have been relieved in a couple of hours to attend a birthday party for one of his three children. The collision took place as the apparatus swung to the left hand side of the street to avoid hitting another vehicle. Michael La Tronica, 7240 South Lincoln street, driver of the dairy truck, was held.

Five Hurt in Crash.

The other smashup happened in front of the Wilk & Rosen store at 345 West Roosevelt road when engine company No. 13 truck, on an emergency run, swerved to avoid a street car and collided with a truck driven by William Mack, 210 West Madison street. The apparatus came into the store front. A companion of Mack, George Ham, 45 years old, a harness maker, was injured critically.

The driver was hooked on a charge of reckless driving for his alleged failure to stop. Ham, in whose pocket a pint of liquor was found, was charged with violation of the prohibition law. Mack was slightly hurt, as were three firemen. William O'Brien, chauffeur, James Murphy, and Michael Dunlea.

Two Killed in McHenry County.

Two Chicagoans were killed in automobile accidents in McHenry county.

L. J. Mulbacher, of 1850 South Avers avenue was trying to pass another machine near Algonquin when his car skidded and overturned in an eight foot ditch. His companion, Miss Belle Goldman, 55, of 2330 North Sacramento avenue, was killed. Mulbacher escaped with slight injuries.

Lewis Wigenburg, 55, of 1461 North La Grange avenue, was riding near Crystal Lake when a fire blew out. The car left the road, and Wigenburg's arm, which was hanging out of the door, was torn off by a tree. He died later at the Woodstock hospital.

In Cook county there were six deaths from motor accidents, the total for the year being raised to 451.

Woman Killed by Bus.

Mrs. Sophie Zuckerman, 55 years old, 2344 Augusta street, was run over and killed by a coach of the Illinois Roadway bus lines as she was attempting to cross South Park avenue at East 53d street. John Burner, 1643 School street, Chicago Heights, driver of the bus, is vainly trying to miss Mrs. Zuckerman, crashed his vehicle head-on with an automobile driven by George Forster, 125 West 59th street.

Mrs. Anna Maslanska, 29, of 942 West 33d street, died from injuries received Monday when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Stanley, and their three children was knocked into a ditch near Argo by a signifying, speeding machine that fled.

Walks Into Path of Auto.

Mrs. Ericka Sundstrom, 65, of 6010 Justine street, was killed when she walked behind a street car at South Ashland avenue and West Sixtieth street into the path of an automobile driven by Joseph Tortorello, 1337 West Erie street.

Injuries received Saturday as he was struck by an automobile at North Crawford and Diversey avenues proved fatal to Joseph Dimco, 64 years old, 544 West Grand avenue.

George Forster, 55, of West 59th street, struck by an automobile driven by Lawrence Haug of 2624 Prairie avenue, Evanston, at Sheridan road and Argyle street on Sept. 1, died early this morning in the Lake View hospital. Haug was held.

Miss Nora Sullivan, 45, 1655 Grace street, died at the American hospital from injuries suffered on Aug. 25 when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Gladys Gundell, 515 Kenmore avenue, at Kenmore avenue and Irving Park boulevard.

Making 100 Miles Hour.

From Old Glory itself came only two earlier radio messages, as Bertand had said he did not expect to send out a stream of useless information. The first wireless, reading simply, "Making over 100 miles an hour. All well," was picked up at St. Johns, N. B., at 3:25 p. m.

The next, a longer report and addressed to Bertand's wife, came into the Cape Elizabeth naval station about an hour later.

"The ship is heavy," Bertand said, "making 100 miles an hour. Everything going fine. About ninety miles north of Digby, N. B."

HOPS FROM MAINE

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The Pokker monoplanes Old Glory with three men in her cockpit and cabin, climbed up into the wind here this afternoon, and headed for Rome.

James D. Hill was at the controls as she climbed into the air after a run of two miles along the beach made at the beach. Lloyd Bertand was beside him, waiting his turn at the stick. Philip Payne, representative of William R. Hearst, leader of the flight, rode with the plane.

The Pokker, which for so many weary days sat at the top of a runway on Roosevelt field on Long Island waiting for a favorable wind, started on its cruise at 1:35 p. m.

There were no formalities and the

The statement at the start. Bertand was calm.

"I can't get any more excited about it than the man in the moon," he said.

Hill was too much taken up with the last minute preparations to talk about it.

The motor of the big monoplane was started at noon and roared a while, the pilots and mechanics listening anxiously.

Everything seemed all right. The motor was throttled down. Hill and Bertand looked at each other to determine who would pilot the ship on the take-off.

Hill won. Bertand will land the plane in Rome.

James H. Scarr of the New York weather bureau assured the pilots that weather conditions were unusually favorable.

There is a stretch of fog and rain beyond Newfoundland, but it should not prove serious.

Mrs. Bertand, crying a little, kissed her husband good-by.

His mother was there also, crying a little too. Fayne leaned out of the ship and kissed his wife good-by.

The run down the beach was started.

The monoplane started to run into the wind, gaining speed as it went.

By the time it had covered the first mile—the total distance it would have had to run on Long Island—only the tail end was off the ground.

The plane roared on, bounding on the landing wheels, jumped into the air and sinking down again.

It appeared for a few seconds as though the big plane would not rise.

Carder, 4% Ton Lead.

The Pukker finally got its six and a half tons off the ground, circled at an altitude of about 75 feet above the several thousand gathered on the beach.

The plane seemed to be having all it could do to keep up. But it began to gain altitude and to pick up speed as it turned to the east.

Within fifteen minutes after the start the flyers had vanished.

Before the plane started it was blessed by Father James Mullen, an Old Orchard priest.

The flyers carried letters from three American cardinals and from other celebrities and greetings to Mussolini and the king of Italy.

The barograph was sealed by Maj. Carl W. Smith of the Maine National Guard.

Old Glory is another product of the brain of Anthony H. G. Pokker, famous Dutch builder of Commander Byrd's monoplane America, the army monoplane that flew to Greenland and Maitland Bay in Greenland and across of well known commercial planes.

Levine's Flits Nettle Wife; Vows She'll Home-Cage Him

New York, Sept. 6.—(Special)—Charles A. Levine is planning any more aerial sensations he had better get them out of his system before he returns to America.

His wife, arriving today on the liner Ile de France, has had enough of them.

"When he comes back home," she said, "I am going to put my foot down and be boss."

And she said it as if she meant it. The whole world knows the story of her husband's takeoff with Clarence Chamberlin on the flight from Roosevelt field to Germany.

He put one over on his wife that morning by slipping into the plane just a moment before it roared away.

Mrs. Levine fainted.

The whole world also knows that she went to Europe to forgive him and that only a week or so ago he started aviators by trying his transatlantic plane Columbia from Paris to London—despite the fact that he is not a skilled pilot.

That flight, it seems, was too much for Mrs. Levine's nerves.

Informing that he had announced his intention of taking off from England for New York today, she admitted he had cabled his intentions to her yesterday.

"I hope he changes his mind," she said. "I do not think he'll bring Miss Mabel Bell as a passenger. If he could have carried another passenger, I should have been the one to go. I want to be with him whatever he does, but I wish he wouldn't try it."

Then she announced she intended to "be boss" if she ever got her husband safely home.

"He's impulsive," she said. "All of these things he has done have been on impulse. Why, the day he flew from Paris to London he had a luncheon engagement with me and Senator Lockwood. We were to meet at the Ambassador hotel."

"At 3:30 o'clock that afternoon I received a cable from London saying: 'Hello, dear! I'm in London.'"

Mrs. Levine said she got in touch with the attorney for Drumbin, the French pilot who was once employed by Levine to fly the Columbia home, and with ex-Senator Lockwood's aid arrived at a settlement under which she paid him 100,000 francs to end the dispute over his contract with her husband. Then she went to London.

single 450 horse power Bristol-Jupiter engine of the nine cylinder radial air cooled type. Before reaching its final destination the ship must cross an unbroken stretch of more than 2,500 miles of ocean from Cape Sable to Bordeaux, France, a distance further than from San Francisco to the Hawaiian Islands.

Fuel tests in this ship, at a cruising speed of 58 miles an hour, showed a gasoline consumption of about 31 gallons an hour. With the plane's tanks loaded to capacity, 1,270 gallons, Bertand and Hill figure that they can stay aloft 54 hours and cruise more than 4,600 miles, 780 miles further than their course.

Without load the monoplane weighs 4,535 pounds. With its Rome load it displaces 12,500 pounds, or barely 2,000 pounds less than Commander Byrd's three motored ship.

The maximum speed of Old Glory, according to its designer, is 130 miles an hour—the fastest top speed of any of the trans-Atlantic ships.

YANKEE FLYERS NOW ONE-THIRD AROUND WORLD

Brock and Schlee Land in Rangoon, Burma.

BULLETIN.

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 7.—(AP)—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee arrived here at 2:50 o'clock this afternoon from Calcutta, India, on their round-the-world flight.

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Pride of Detroit, with Brock and Schlee aboard, hopped off from Calcutta this morning for Rangoon, 645 miles distant.

BY FRANK POULTON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CALCUTTA, India, Sept. 6.—(AP)—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, in their American plane the Pride of Detroit, landed today in Calcutta after an uneventful journey from Allahabad. The trip of 445 miles took 4 hours and 40 minutes.

Both men refused invitations to entertainers from the crowds of spectators and immediately set to work cleaning and tuning up the machine. A job that took four hours. Neither would leave the airframe until all was snug for the night.

Richard Willey, American vice consul at Calcutta, was host to the aviators. Despite the red tape and delay at Constantinople and their response to the persistent invitations to accept hospitality at the landing places, the flyers, who have now finished more than one-third of their trip, still are confident of encircling the world in less time than the present record by train, boat and plane of 38 days 14 hours and 53 minutes.

CONFIRM REDFERN CLEW

BY GERALD MARTIN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

CARACAS, Venezuela, Sept. 6.—The Venezuelan government reported to the American legation yesterday afternoon that the result of the investigation regarding Paul Redfern, who left Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 25 in the plane Ford of Brunswick, showed numerous villages and plantations around the Macao river saw a plane fly over that vicinity Saturday, Aug. 27, headed southeast toward the Orinoco river delta.

Two Reuters correspondents interviewed the postman who originally reported seeing the plane. He said: "While I have never actually seen an airplane, I have seen many in the movies, and am positive I saw a plane going quite high, although the storm at times obscured it. However, the engine's noise was unmistakable, while I also recall seeing smoke in its wake. Others saw it with me."

The postman delivers mail between Barrancas and Tucupita, a dense jungle area. The Orinoco river delta is uninhabited except by a few Indian huts. British Guinea authorities report that they have seen no sign of Redfern, but the entire district is uninhabited jungle and the Venezuelans believe a motor boat from Trinidad should scour the Orinoco river's delta.

POPE GRATIFIED OVER BLESSING OF ROME FLIGHT

ROME, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Vatican, on learning through the Associated Press of the blessing of Old Glory by Father Mullen of Old Orchard, expressed great satisfaction that a religious ceremony had preceded such a momentous undertaking as the air-flight from America to Rome.

The report was communicated to the pope, who declared himself highly gratified. The pontiff added that he hoped the daring enterprise would be successful, thus offering him an opportunity to impart the apostolic benediction on the intrepid aviators.

HOPE TO REOPEN ILLINOIS MINES IN PARLEY TODAY

Tentative Coal Peace Plan Reported Drafted.

The wage scale committee of the Illinois Miners' union and the executive board of the Illinois Coal Operators' association will meet at the Auditorium hotel this morning to ratify or reject a basis of agreement for ending the strike in Illinois mines, which have been inactive since April 1.

Terms of peace are in sight between large operating interests and union of coal. It is said, but objections from miners may delay formal confirmation.

Rice Miller, president of the Operators' association, denies that today's meeting is cut and dried.

"Both miners and operators will enter the conference and resume negotiations with open minds," he said. "Up to this time the operators have refused to sign an agreement on the Jacksonville wage scale basis, and nothing definite has developed to indicate they have changed their minds."

"Many of these reports about settlements are circulated for propaganda purposes. The operators meeting with the wage scale committee of the union should last three or four days. To state the outcome would be work for a prophet."

May Change Conditions. It is believed, however, that mining will be resumed at an early date in the majority of active Illinois mines, without a reduction of the Jacksonville wage scale pending the report of a joint commission of miners and operators on a reorganization of the industry, through a modification of working conditions in the mines.

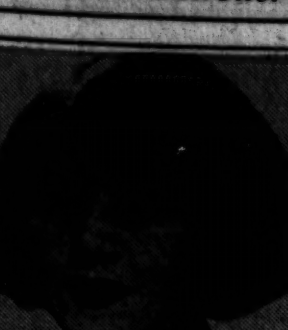

Formal signing of a contract will result the report of the joint commission of agreement to be discussed in conference, is to investigate the entire status of the coal industry in Illinois and to report on methods of reducing operating costs. The purpose of this is to give the Illinois operators an opportunity of recapturing markets lost to nonunion competitors, principally in western Kentucky where the scale averages $4.40 a day.

Help Illinois Mines. The present district agreements are to be revised to eliminate many of the differentials and other technical provisions applying to mines of varying natural conditions and operating problems. It is also understood that these rules are to be revised to enable Illinois operators to install more machine methods where practical.

Some of the existing agreements, it is charged, remove all the operators' incentive to effect these technical improvements because the rates of pay are adjusted as to absorb in the payment all of the savings from improvements.

The joint commission, as proposed in the tentative draft of the agreement, is to be composed of two representatives of the operators and two of the miners. Negotiations held in strict confidence looking to this sort of compromise have been going on for months, but it is understood that the operators held out for a fifth neutral commissioner.

To Wed Detrolter

ANASTASIA REILLY.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Theodore Del Buhl, wealthy young Detroit, tonight confirmed the announcement of his engagement to Anastasia Reilly, former Follies beauty. Young Buhl, a recent graduate of the Yale university, confirmed the announcement of the young dancer in a long distance conversation from Chicago. Miss Reilly is now appearing in a revue in Chicago.

Lewis Makes Promise. John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, refused to concede this, but with the Illinois miners' officials he has agreed to name two men whose ability and integrity the operators have full confidence.

From the miners' standpoint the suspension of coal digging activities in the bituminous fields throughout the country has not been a strike, technically at any rate. While the operators' association has hoisted the banner of "one for all and all for each," refusing to enter into an agreement not satisfactory to all members, the union policy committee, under authorization of the last miners' convention, has at all times been ready to make individual agreements with operators.

These agreements were temporary and specified that the $1.50 a day Jacksonville scale would continue in effect. Since the walkout was called on April 1 some of the smaller Illinois mines have reopened under union terms.

What effect the pending settlement in Illinois will have on the industry in other states will soon be disclosed, it is stated. It is believed that the Iowa suspension will be settled speedily on similar lines. The Iowa mines are mostly railroad mines and some of the western carriers, it is reported, are not any too well stocked with coal. It is generally believed that in Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma a similar settlement will be reached. In Indiana, with the general development of bricker demand, mines have been reopening operations under the Jacksonville wage scale pending a general agreement.

The strike in the Pittsburgh district is expected to continue for some time, as large mining companies there have reopened their mines with nonunion labor and important consuming interests are said to be backing them in the fight.

Big Coal Stocks on Hand. Because of the heavy coal output in the union fields prior to last April and increased nonunion output, especially in western Kentucky, the total bituminous tonnage produced in the United States up to Aug. 27 was only 4,970,000 tons less than the amount produced for the same period last year, when there was no strike.

As late as July 1 the consumers' stocks of coal above ground amounted to 61,000,000 tons, which was 23,000,000 tons more than in any previous year—the country having drawn upon its reserves for only 13,000,000 tons in the first three months of the strike. These facts led many to believe that the strike was a failure, but with the approach of the fall and better business it was seen that consumption would build up to 11,000,000 tons a week.

Production reached a high figure of 9,744,000 tons in the week ended Aug. 27, but many large consumers need fuel, it is said, and to depend upon the nonunion fields for all coal would involve serious transportation rearrangements and difficulties.

75,000 Illinois Miners Involved. The strike involves about 75,000 miners and more than 615 shafts in Illinois. Illinois produced last year 69,000,000 tons of coal. The average yearly production from 1916 to 1920 was 78,255,000, the average from 1921 to 1925 was 86,523,000 tons. The low level was reached in 1925, with an output of only 66,998,000.

There has been a steady gain in Kentucky nonunion production from an average of 30,108,000 tons in 1916 to 1926, inclusive, to 53,320,000 tons last year.

Postmen Will Strike by Going to Work on Holiday [Chicago Tribune From Service.] PARIS, Sept. 6.—Postmen in the department of Bouches-du-Rhone, southern France, voted a new kind of strike today in protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. On Sept. 18, which has been declared a national holiday in honor of visiting American Legion delegates, they will strike by working all day, holding forth the customary eight hours in the postal offices and the streets, even though there is no work.

3 WOMEN INJURED BY TRAIN CRASH IN YARDS HERE

Three passengers were injured yesterday when a yard engine of the Pennsylvania railroad backing on a siding side-swiped an inbound Chicago and Alton passenger train near the river at 18th and Canal streets. The yard engine was derailed and both tracks blocked for several hours. The injured were taken to the emergency hospital at the Union station.

The injured were Mrs. Ross Silverman, 63 years old, 115 South Paulina street, Evanston, and Mrs. Jessie Littlejohn, and Mrs. Mary Crisby, both colored, also from Evanston. After being treated they were taken to their homes.

According to the Canalport police, the Pennsylvania yard engine ran past a stop sign and the tender of his engine struck the side of the Alton train. Engineer Edward Downs in charge of the Alton train saw the yard engine approaching and applied his brakes. The passengers were thrown from their seats by the sudden stop.

Peoria Boy Starts Out to See America; Caught Joseph Donald Battie, 16, of 1117 East McClurg street, Peoria, Ill., was arrested here yesterday by the Central police at Market and Madison streets. The boy had stolen his father's automobile, it is charged, and had started out to see America. He is being held pending the arrival of his father.

ORDER 1-WAY TRAFFIC AS 75,000 SEE MAJOR DISPLAY OF FOUNTAIN

Between 75,000 and 100,000 persons—Chicagoans and sojourners in the city—visited the display of the new Buckingham Memorial fountain in Grant park last Sunday night, according to the estimate of south park officials. The automobile traffic alone was so heavy and so long did the motorists linger as they passed the spot that Supt. George T. Donoghue of the south parks has ordered one way traffic on the outer drives on the coming evenings of Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday, the major display nights.

North bound traffic on those nights henceforth will be restricted to the east outer drive and south bound traffic to the west outer drive.

"It is almost unbelievable how this fountain has captured the popular imagination," Mr. Donoghue said last night. "One of the chief reasons for the many visitors, of course, was James O'Donnell Bennett's fine front page story in The Tribune Sunday morning. In fact, that brought them, I think, all day Sunday and all day Monday. Such publicity always brings a spectacle home to the people and brings them out by thousands to view it."

HOLD INFANTILE PARALYSIS NOT YET EPIDEMIC

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Although there is infantile paralysis in certain sections of the country, the public health service does not regard the disease as unusually prevalent. It does not begin to approach the epidemic year of 1916, although an accurate estimate of its existence this year cannot be obtained until cold weather checks the disease.

It appeared first to a noticeable extent in California, and then spread in Ohio and West Virginia, and has now cropped out in New York and Massachusetts.

Telegraphic reports Aug. 27 showed 55 cases in Massachusetts, 48 in California, 58 in New York, 24 in Illinois, 20 in New Jersey, 10 in Michigan, 4 in Indiana, 2 in Wisconsin, and from one to ten cases in other states with the exception of Ohio and West Virginia.

STRUCK AND HURT BY I. C. TRAIN. Stephen Fuller, 1955 East 73d place, was seriously injured when he stepped in front of an Illinois Central railroad train at the Bryn Mawr station, as his wife and daughter waited him in an automobile near the station last night.

HALL DESIGNING CONTEST TO SAVE $500,000 URGED

Gibson Presents Plan to County Board.

An architectural contest for Chicagoans only to select the designer of the $15,000,000 Chicago hall was proposed to the county board yesterday by Commissioner John W. Gibson. His resolution was referred to the public service committee.

The commissioner said he could save the taxpayers between $500,000 and $800,000 if the county board will follow his recommendations rather than pay 6 per cent of the cost of construction to architects as has been proposed.

"I'm following the policy of Mayor Thompson to patronize home industry," Mr. Gibson said to the board. "The mayor doesn't want to import any architects and I don't want to import any architects."

Calls It a Simple Job.

"This is a simple job, just four walls around an arena and a stage and any one of the 701 architects in the classified telephone directory could furnish the plans. There's nothing to an architect's job, any way. He sends out a $50 a week superintendent to do all the work."

"I am informed that the American Institute of Architects will furnish us

NAVY INVITES HEALTH MEN TO ANTI-MOSQUITO DUSTING BY AIRPLANE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The governors of several southern states, officials of the public health service and representatives of state health departments have been invited to attend a demonstration of anti-mosquito swamp dusting by airplane at Bamberg, S. C., on Sept. 8, under the direction of the navy department. A plane, equipped with dusting apparatus carrying one thousand pounds of Paris green and powdered soapstone, will carry out the experiments. The navy department said this mixture would penetrate the most dense foliage and kill all mosquito larvae in the water beneath.

The names of 15 of the leaders in their profession who will enter the contest, the winner to take the contract for $50,000. Each entrant would be paid $2,500 or $3,000.

"At the outside, the total cost would be a whole lot less than the $900,000 that would be paid under the 6 per cent plan."

Commissioner Gibson said the contest would be held under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects. A bulletin of the institute, entitled "Professional Practice of Architects," reads:

"The architect's professional services consist of the necessary conferences, the preparation of preliminary studies, working drawings, specifications, large scale and full size detail drawings; the drafting of forms of proposals and contracts; the issuance of certificates of payment; the keeping of accounts; the general administration of the business and supervision of the work, for which, except as hereinafter mentioned, a proper minimum charge, based upon the total cost of the work completed, is 6 per cent."

Commissioner Gibson declined to say the person who had told him that the American Institute of Architects would endorse a competition to build Chicago Hall for a fee of $40,000.

Consideration Promised.
Commissioner Louis Nettlehorst, chairman of the public service committee, to whom resolution was referred, said he will take up the question with the Chicago chapter of the institute.

"I favor paying a fee that is fair but I am just as much concerned in the taxpayers getting a building of which they can be proud," Commissioner Nettlehorst said. "I'm in favor of the architectural work being let by competition but believe that the contest should be at least nation-wide."

"It is true that Chicago has some of the greatest architects in the world. And this is an opportunity for them to distinguish themselves by winning a competition open to every one."

President Anton J. Cermak, who also favors an architect's competition, preferably world-wide, was absent from the meeting due to illness.

DRY RAIDERS FIND ANOTHER SQUAD BEAT THEM TO IT

A squad of prohibition agents, armed with a search warrant, entered a garage at 2051 North Rockwell street yesterday to raid a brewery, only to find that another raiding squad had preceded them by fifteen minutes and confiscated a brewery valued at $25,000, arresting one man. The brewery was estimated to have a daily capacity of 150 barrels of beer. John Trautman was arrested. Dry agents are seeking former Police Lieutenant Albert Wingo, "Red" Thompson, and Matt Kolb, alleged brewers. The second raiding squad was led by Bruce Armstrong, who attributed the recent bombing of his home to his refusal to accept a $50,000 bribe that he said was proffered by Terry Drugan.

Do you remember way back when—

YOU, as a barefoot boy, perhaps, tramped the cool grass of the open fields—or dozed away on an afternoon by a lazy, wandering stream. A bamboo pole—and a can of worms. It mattered little then—The world was yours and the sky above it. — And from your lunchbox you pulled a banquet—a sandwich and a cup of milk—milk that was fresh and sweet and pure—cooled in the shadows.

What would you give to do it again—To drink your fill of milk like that? You can get it—near your home or office. BROOK-HILL Certified Milk has the same real flavor as the milk you knew in those days—sweet, fresh and scrupulously clean.

Drink BROOK-HILL Certified Milk
Fresh from the Farm

There is a difference. The mere fact that physicians recommend Certified Milk for small children proves conclusively that from the standpoint of health, it has many advantages. Certified Milk is a natural food—pure and fresh—bottled under the most careful supervision at the farm where it is produced. Full-flavored just as Nature intended. It is a faithful guardian of health.

Drink BROOK-HILL Certified Milk every day. Drink it in the morning—with your noon-day meal—in the afternoon—or the evening. You can get it at our soda fountains. Make Certified Milk drinking a habit. It's good for you.

TEACHER-CLERKS WIN IN FIGHT TO PREVENT OUSTER

May Be Transferred to Classrooms.

More than 800 extra teachers employed as assistants in principals' offices won a substantial victory in court yesterday when the board of education agreed to refrain from ousting them.

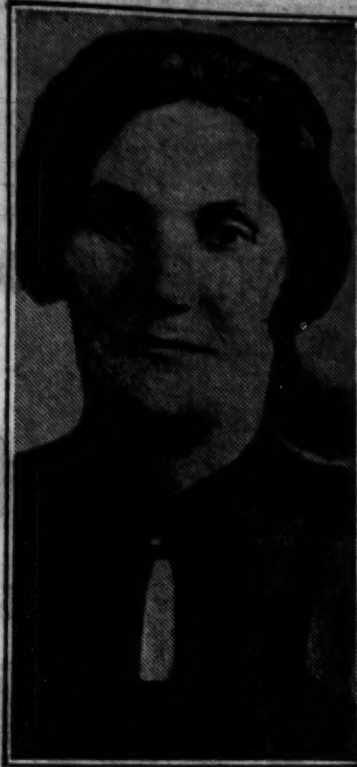

On Sept. 3 the board passed a resolution ordering extra teachers replaced by civil service appointees. The teachers asked for an injunction preventing the board from carrying out the resolution. The case was assigned to Judge Joseph B. David of the Superior court. The compromise between the board and the teachers was effected yesterday in the master's court.

May Be Transferred.
By the terms of the agreement the extra teachers will remain in the school system, but can be transferred to classroom positions by the board. The board will then be free to fill more positions in school offices with civil service appointees. According to a statement made last week by Edward F. Moore, deputy commissioner of public works, the administration will allow ward committeemen and precinct captains to examine candidates for the extra teachers' positions and decide which individuals shall be given the appointments.

The teachers' suit which closed yesterday resulted a week ago in the suspension of Supt. William McAndrew. Subpoenaed to appear as a defense witness in the case, Mr. McAndrew gave testimony which the board regarded as favoring the teachers' cause. His suspension on a charge of insubordination followed.

Master in Chancery Bernstein said that his formal report on the case would be made to Judge Charles Williams in the Superior court this morning.

PROBERS TO PLAN PRESERVATION OF VARE BALLOTS

Means of preserving the ballots cast in the Vare-Wilson senatorship election in Pennsylvania will be taken up by Senator James Reed's slush fund investigating committee holding a joint session today at the Congress hotel with the senate committee on privileges and elections. Mr. Vare has been invited to attend.

The hearing grows out of a recent demand by Allegheny county, Pa., upon the sergeant-at-arms of the senate, that the ballot boxes impounded by the Reed committee, be returned or a claim for $6,400 for their replacement would be filed. At Rochester, Minn., Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, head of the senate committee on privileges and elections, said it is planned to work out some method of preserving the ballots.

"It is most desirable," he said, "that some course of action shall be taken that will lead to the preservation of this evidence for the use of the senate when the case comes up for action next winter."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I. Miller begs to extend his appreciation for the enthusiastic attendance at the opening of his new shop and for the delighted reception of the Fall slipper styles. Many and most welcome were the compliments on the shop and its appointments, but it was the avidity of interest in, and the quick recognition of the correctness of the slippers that was most encouraging. Indeed, the woman of today knows style--the proper color, the correct pattern, the important material. I. Miller counts himself fortunate in his Paris connections, in his world-wide resources, and in his initiation of the style note in footwear in this fashion-wise world of today--and more than fortunate that so many Chicago women enjoy the sixth sense of taste. A new shop is always interesting--may we not invite you to see it?

SECRET PAPERS BARE RED PLOTS IN SO. AMERICA

Documents Presented to Bolivian Senate.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A level proof of communist activities in South America, directed and financed by the Third International of Moscow, was offered by the Bolivian foreign minister in parliament yesterday in the form of documents signed by Nikolai Bukharin and M. Zalkind, both prominently identified with soviet Russia affairs.

Coincident with this charge came the announcement of the discovery and suppression of an attempt at another communist movement by the arrest of the leaders and the seizure of explosives of "formidable" potency.

Papers for Latin "Comrade."

The foreign minister's exposure was met by parliament with a vote of confidence in the government. The session began with the reading by the foreign minister of documents forwarded by the Bolivian legation in Paris as coming from the secret archives of the soviet embassy in Paris and containing instructions and credentials for "Comrade Martinez."

The documents read by the foreign minister follow:

"Absolutely secret. Order to the members of the Latin-American section, Comrade Martinez:

"By virtue of the decision of the small plenum (praesidium) of the communist international you are herewith ordered to leave for Bolivia and put yourself at the head of all our organizations and agencies. Attached you will receive detailed instructions by the communist international.

Orders Reds to Aid.

"All official and secret organizations of the U. S. S. R. [Union of Soviet Republics] should lend to Comrade Martinez all the help and protection necessary for the success of the task entrusted to him. All communist organizations in Bolivia are subordinate to the said Comrade Martinez.

[Signed] Bukharin, president of the communist international; Zalkind, secretary general of the communist international. "Moscow, Feb. 13, 1927."

Secret Document.

"By diplomatic mail, absolutely secret, very urgent. The secretariat of the communist international, Moscow, Feb. 13, 1927. No. 747.

"To Comrade Martinez, Paris.

"Inclosed are copies of the instructions and the mandate addressed to Comrade Martinez, who is travelling to Bolivia. The committee has appropriated the sum of 1,000,000 francs [133,000], which you will hand to him when he embarked. Keep me posted on his departure.

[Signed] Zalkind, secretary of the communist international."

"Very secret. Moscow, Feb. 13, 1927.

"To Comrade Martinez, member of the Latin-American section:

"On receipt of this communication, by order of Comrade Bukharin and by the decision of the small plenum of the communist international, you should leave immediately for Bolivia and present yourself to our representative plenipotentiary in Paris, and after having been instructed by him and provided with the necessary funds you will embark immediately on the first steamer available for Antofagasta (Chile), and from there to La Paz."

Orders Communist Revolt.

"On your arrival there you will begin the work of organization of communism and place yourself and all your energies in the service of a communist revolution which will carry to the rule of workers and farmers.

"To conceal your revolutionary work you will open a business house, which will be the general staff of the government and serve as the medium of communication with our agents in the other countries of South America.

[Signed] The Secretary General Zalkind."

RAILWAY CHIEFS DISCUSS OCEAN SHIP OPERATION

Seek More Data on Probable Profit.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

No opposition was encountered among railroad presidents here to the proposal of E. N. Hurley, war time chairman of the United States shipping board, that the railroads acquire and operate ocean steamships, as printed in This Tribune last Sunday. They looked upon it as a suggestion rather than a proposal, plan, or definite idea. They were inclined to encourage discussion of it, but hesitated to make extensive commitments without more information on the subject.

"The idea starts out on what appears to be a sound basis," said H. E. Byram, operating receiver for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system, "as the railroads are in the transportation business. But how can the railroads operate ocean ships profitably? And they must be operated profitably to be operated at all."

"American ships compete on the Pacific ocean with the Canadian Pacific railroad boats and the Japanese ships, but the American boats are at a disadvantage."

"Robert Dollar has had a more extensive experience in Pacific ocean shipping than any other American has. He says passenger boats should be scrapped and replaced every 20 years. The railroads could get into the ocean carrying business at a low cost by buying the boats now for sale. The federal government is selling them way below cost. But at the end of 20 years the railroads then would have to buy boats at high American costs."

"The seamen's law of the United States makes the operating costs much higher than on boats of other nationalities. Mr. Dollar says that is a severe handicap."

Against Trend of I. C. C.

"The regulation of railroads by the interstate commerce commission, which to an extent represents public sentiment, has been against operation of boats by the railroads, especially on the Great Lakes. It is now considered against public interest, but within a reasonably short time that viewpoint will be modified."

"When we get the lakes to the St. Lawrence waterway, we will in effect have the ocean at the terminals of sundry railroads in Chicago. Then what are we going to do? Will we then be permitted to load our own boats for Europe and be declined permission to load a boat for Buffalo?"

"While I make no pretense of being informed on water shipping, I don't see offhand how the Hurley idea could be worked out satisfactorily before there is a consolidation of the railroads in this country," said Col. N. L. Howard, president of the Chicago Great Western who was in France during the war and has a high regard for Mr. Hurley's work for the federal government.

Good for Strong Roads.

"Assuming that the idea is sound economics, its application now would make the strong roads stronger and the weak roads weaker. Many of the weak roads serve public convenience in fact, still a public necessity, and those should not be put out of business."

William B. Storey, president of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe, an old and strong road, had a mixed opinion of the Hurley suggestion.

"It would take considerable consideration before I could give a very definite opinion on the idea," he said. "One of the business reasons which Mr. Hurley gives rather appeals to me at first blush—the shipping to any part of the world by any rail carrier. The railroads at present are very closely regulated. I have my doubts whether railroad ocean shipping could survive under like regulation."

L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central, which earns good dividends regularly, probably is in a position to make a more authoritative statement on ocean shipping than any other rail chief in Chicago. The Illinois Central—although comparatively few Chicagoans know it, runs to New York and Boston, via the Atlantic ocean.

It has eight boats of about 5,000 tons each, which make three trips weekly between Savannah, Ga., and New York and two trips weekly from Savannah to Boston.

"An opinion to be of any value must be intelligent," said Mr. Downs, "and, frankly, I do not know enough about international ocean shipping to talk with a good degree of definiteness. We are in the coastal business, which is different from international ocean business."

Mr. Downs said that because of the boats operated along the Atlantic seaboard, the Illinois Central gained much business it would otherwise miss; and that the water and rail rates are cheaper than the all rail tariff. The Illinois Central records show that it gains considerable freight from the east for Memphis, Louisville, St. Louis and Kansas City by the operation of its water route, although it does not carry much business from the east for Chicago.

Helps Central of Georgia.

The I. C. controls the Central of Georgia and the boat line hooks up with the Georgian system. The book value of the boat line is $10,028,000 and its gross revenue last year was $4,745,241 with a net of about $552,000. It carried 3,482,000 tons of which 2,033,000 tons were southbound and 1,449,000 tons northbound. In addition, it transported 673,000 passengers.

One other railroad of the United States also carries an extensive water business. That is the Southern Pacific. The railroad took over the Morgan boat lines. Up to 1924 it operated a boat line from New Orleans to Havana, Cuba, and another from Galveston and New Orleans to New York. The Southern Pacific advertises that the mileage of its water route is 3,825 and has 23 ocean steamships and more than 100 other pieces of water craft.

Foreign Ships Limited.

There is a federal restriction on ships under foreign flags engaging in coastal business and the boats of the Illinois Central and the Southern Pacific appear to be a decided advantage to these railroads. Mr. Hurley in his interview pointed out that the Soo line is able to bill goods from Chicago to points in Asia and Europe by reason of its relationship ship with the Canadian Pacific which operates boats on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. According to the last report the Canadian Pacific operated 59 ocean and coastal ships of 410,444 tons. It has a fleet of 21 ocean liners which ply between Montreal and Liverpool and between Vancouver and Asiatic ports.

A railroad official, other than heretofore quoted, but who declined to permit the use of his name, said the Canadian Pacific railroad gets very generous treatment from United States commerce, and that it makes dividends on its ocean business because of that treatment. He declared:

Big Traffic from U. S.

"The Canadian Pacific gets a large part of its ocean business from the United States. The last figures I have seen show that upwards of 70 per cent of its ocean business through Vancouver is business to and from the United States. The Canadian Pacific is not bothered with the seamen's act of the United States."

"When the Canadian Pacific makes repairs in foreign ports, as is frequently necessary, it is not compelled to pay a 50 per cent duty to the United States as are American vessels. Exports to Australia, are subject to an import duty when shipped direct from the United States, but when the goods go by the Canadian Pacific they enter free."

"The Hurley idea as I look at it involves three large factors. First, it is economically sound under American conditions? Second, what would be public sentiment on the matter? Third, would politicians see more to their personal advantage in opposing than in promoting the idea?"

Reviews Yankee Shipping.

The need for an American merchant marine is vividly presented by Robert Dollar in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly. He recalls that when the late President Roosevelt sent the American warships around the world it was necessary to employ foreign ships to supply them with coal. Mr. Dollar says in 1880 American ships carried almost all American trade, while only 0.97 per cent in 1914. He concluded:

"Probably this is brought about to some extent by our not having one ship owner in congress to see that our laws are just and fair, whereas in Great Britain there are about 70 ship owners who are members of parliament."

AUSTIN PROMISES TO FIGHT AGAINST PAROLE OF STARK

David Stark, listed by police here as a veteran pickpocket with a string of aliases, and who now is serving an indeterminate sentence at Joliet for purse snatching, will not have an easy task in gaining an early parole if William B. Austin, mortgage banker of 11 South La Salle street, has his way about it.

Mr. Austin, who after a long fight finally brought about the sentencing and jailing of Stark last October on charges of stealing $17 from him aboard a Clark street car, declared that he intends actively opposing a parole for Stark if the latter's case comes before the state board next month.

Detectives last night continued their vigilance at the home of Henry E. Strassheim, banker and real estate dealer, at 5446 Wayne avenue, who several days ago received a letter demanding $2,500 or his life. Although a decoy package left in the place designated while police lay in wait near by, had failed to bring out the extortionists, there was still fear they might attempt to carry out their threat.

Mr. Strassheim, a nephew of Christopher Strassheim, the former sheriff of Cook county, was principally concerned, he said, about his children.

DEFENSE PLANS OF HILL SUSPECT PUZZLE POLICE

Identification Made in Seattle Today.

Local maneuvers by counsel for the youth held in Seattle as Harry Hill, Streator, Ill. youth, who is charged with the murder of his mother, were reported yesterday as highly confusing to the police and state's attorney there. Nevertheless, plans went on apace to extradite him to Illinois to face trial for the crime.

Three officials from Streator will arrive at Seattle today to take charge of the prisoner, their arrival being preceded by extradition papers which had been sent by air mail by Gov. Len Small.

Hill's father, Dr. H. C. Hill, Streator physician and divorced husband of the slain woman, likewise will be in the coast city today, with the announced mission of safeguarding the rights of his son and of engineering what he believes will be his son's complete exoneration.

Extradition Battle Seen.

The confusion caused by the defense counsel was raised over the question of whether extradition proceedings would be resisted. Indications were that a battle will result, and the actions of the lawyers yesterday seemed to point afresh to a doubt that the prisoner in Seattle is young Hill. A hearing on extradition will be held before Gov. Roland H. Bradley in Olympia tomorrow afternoon.

Officials were positive they could not be mistaken in the identity of their prisoner, but they admitted that the moves of T. H. Patterson and Lane Summers, defense attorneys, seemed based on an assurance that it was not Harry Hill who was being held but some one else who was deliberately misleading the police and prosecutors. Attorney Patterson said that applications may be made for a writ of habeas corpus as soon as the Illinois officials arrive to take custody of the prisoner.

Awaits Doctor's Arrival.

Prosecuting Attorney Ewing D. Colvin took this announcement by Patterson to mean an attempt would be made to prove that the prisoner was not Hill. Others considered the attorneys wished simply to frustrate possible attempts to spirit their client hurriedly out of Washington and back to Illinois. This interpretation of the defense conduct had it that the lawyers wished to give the fullest opportunity for Dr. Hill to consult with his son and plan his defense.

The prisoner yesterday refused to answer most questions put to him by the prosecutors. He put aside all inquiries as to his identity with a monosyllabic "I have nothing to say."

He showed some perturbation, according to dispatches, when he was questioned concerning his relations with Robert L. Honeycutt, whose

3,082,550 GALLONS OF FUEL ARE USED IN SEARCH FOR FLYERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Naval vessels used 3,082,550 gallons of fuel in excess of their regular allotment and navigated 113,655 miles above scheduled operations in an unsuccessful search of approximately 250,000 square miles of the Pacific ocean for the missing Dole flyers.

Admiral Jackson, battle fleet commander, who made this report, added that, in addition, planes flew 9,900 miles and consumed 3,100 gallons of gasoline.

Search operations by district craft under the supervision of the various district commanders was in addition to these figures.

name has recently become involved in the mystery surrounding the Streator crime.

Honeycutt, a hanger on at the Streator pool hall in which young Hill often loitered and a close associate for some weeks with the suspected motherer slayer, disappeared from that city on the same day that Hill left, and it was hinted they probably left together. He wore a mustache such as is possessed by the Seattle prisoner and in a general way answers Hill's description.

When William E. Justus, captain of detectives at Seattle, fired abruptly at Hill the question: "Do you know Robert Honeycutt?" the prisoner dropped the smile which had marked his refusal to answer questions on the subject of his identity. He paused for a space, and then exclaimed: "I don't know anything about such a man!"

Chief of Detectives Charles Tennant is so certain of the identity of the prisoner that he completed plans to leave this morning for his annual vacation, saying: "If this man isn't Hill, then I'm not Tennant." A news photo service produced a picture of Hill which established the prisoner's identity beyond a possible doubt, according to Chief Tennant. The prisoner also possesses a scar on his cheek which State's Attorney Hanson of La Salle county described to him over long distance telephone, Chief Tennant declared.

Warrant Is Obtained.

Some officials believe Dr. Hill is not crossing the continent just to accompany his son back to Illinois, and they suggest the physician intends to fight extradition of the youth. Others consider that the father is simply desirous of seeing that his son makes no damaging admissions which would prove detrimental to his defense, and that he is not required to give any testimony against himself, either in Seattle, on the train en route to Illinois, or upon his return.

To prevent Hill's release on a habeas corpus writ the prosecuting attorney at Seattle yesterday obtained a fugitive warrant for the accused man in the court of Justice Chester A. Batchelor, upon which Hill is now being held.

FIDELIA FIELD

THE business which is now called Marshall Field & Company celebrates its seventy-fifth year. It began in a little shop in Lake Street conducted by Potter Palmer.

In a different sense it began in a New England village with the birth of a girl. Her name was Fidelity Nash.

She grew to womanhood and was wooed and married, and her name became Fidelity Field. She was the mother of Marshall Field.

How unbelievable it would have been to her if some one had said: "In 1927 your picture will be published and your influence recorded in a city of 3,000,000 people a thousand miles away."

There was then no such city. Chicago was a straggling, swampy little town.

Yet she, in her country village, helped to build Chicago. She built a boy. She put into his character some of the staunch, unyielding substance of the New England hills. She taught him that what is worth doing is worth doing better than it has ever been done before.

She taught him courtesy. She taught him the principles upon which he later built his belief that no trade is a good trade unless buyer and seller are satisfied; upon which he built his conception of the nobility of service. She taught him his religion, inspired his patriotism and his faith in the goodness of men and women.

These were his foundation stones. Having these, and health and the love of work, it was not hard for him to build.

The business which she thus founded has been made great by millions of other women.

Men, to be sure, have managed it. But the influence and confidence of women have been the greatest factors in its success.

And seventy-five years will be a short period in the life of Marshall Field & Company, and its present achievements will be only a beginning of its future growth, if the character and ideals of Fidelity Field shall continue to find their counterparts in the character and ideals of this institution.

HICKSON BACK READY TO TEST GUNMEN'S MINDS

Says Few Queries Make Them Weaken.

Ninety per cent of Chicago's criminals are "off" enough to be locked up and tested mentally, said Dr. William J. Hickson, director of the city psychopathic laboratory, who returned from Europe yesterday.

Dr. Hickson thus put new life into the waning drive of Chief of Detectives O'Connor to get rid of the city's bad men via the Psychopathic hospital.

O'Connor, Dr. Hickson declared, has hit on the real panacea for the crime evil. He pledged the vigorous aid of his office in conducting the tests.

"Nine in every ten criminals are 'off' in some respect," Dr. Hickson said. "With our examinations we can tell what is wrong with all of them. There's no guesswork about it."

Even Rich Gangsters "Off."

"You believe, then, a millionaire going longer is mentally abnormal?" he was asked.

"In practically every case," he affirmed. "I don't mean he's lacking intellectually. It's a popular misconception that insanity implies inability to think. The fact is that only one disease—paranoia—affects the brain."

Bring your toughest 'gorilla man' into my office, take away his gun, ask him a few apparently foolish questions and he'll be so meek that one of my girl secretaries could push him over with her finger."

Dr. Hickson brought back with him two new discoveries in the field of psychopathology which he expects to put into effect in his laboratory, a new mental test system and a glandular cure for the feeble-minded.

Mind Pattern Psychology.

He calls the test system "gestalt-psychologic," or mind pattern psychology, which he says will replace the prevalent Binet-Simon test. Whereas those examinations were somewhat haphazard, the new tests divide the mind into distinct patterns, scientifically determining a patient's memory, judgment, combination reasoning, and so on. It also examines physical as well as mental reaction.

"The test of the next gunman will be chiefly neurological," Dr. Hickson explained. "His knees will be jerked and he will be asked to cross his arms and whirl his hands in a circle, instead of observing him for ten days. The results will be more accurate, simple, and direct than those of the Binet-Simon test."

Prof. Kraemer of Berlin, inventor of pattern psychology, conferred with Dr.

Hickson last summer. Apparatus for using it will be installed in the Chicago laboratory at once.

Dr. Hickson also talked with German and French experts about his new glandular treatment.

Thyroid Gland Affects Mind.

"It is well known that the thyroid gland vitally affects the mentality," he said. "There are other brain glands equally important. We have discovered that they can be developed by feeding the patient a prepared liquid, the formula of which still is secret."

Of course, the treatment is most effective for feeble-minded children, and I doubt if we can use it on adult criminals."

Two dozen guinea pigs will provide means of experiments for Dr. Hickson in further research work on this remedy. At Zurich, Von Monokov and Plant are working on an identical remedy, he said, and he plans to compare notes with them from time to time.

Confers with O'Connor.

Immediately after coming to his office, Dr. Hickson conferred with Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, as to the tests given to criminals and gangsters during his absence.

He said he would talk to Chief O'Connor within a few days and make plans for handling cases as fast as the police round up the suspects. To do the work on a wholesale basis, he added, he may ask the city council to increase his budget appropriation for assistants.

Chief of Police Hughes announced that the police "will go all the way with Dr. Hickson."

The 100 tough citizens listed by the Chicago Crime commission will be the next victims of the psychopathic tests, the chief said, although none of the 100 has been picked up yet.

I. C. TO BLAME FOR STATION DELAY, ALDERMAN SAYS

Blame for delay of work on the new Randolph street suburban station of the Illinois Central lies upon the railroad and not the city, Ald. D. A. Horan, chairman of the council streets and alleys committee, charged yesterday in reply to reports that an ordinance for the Randolph street viaduct is buried in one of his subcommittees.

"I'm going to call the ordinance up at our next meeting," he said, "and I invite any I. C. official to be there. There has been no effort whatever by the railroad to put the ordinance through."

Ald. Horan admitted that the ordinance has been dormant for more than a year, but he denied that the city wanted to hold it up.

"THE WAY TO SUCCESS THROUGH EXTRA WORK"

Do you realize that it is within your power to command a good home, a fine motor car, a comfortable bank balance, and have the respect and love of family and friends. You can! Others, often less competent, are enjoying these things—why not you? If you have any idea that they are made of better stuff, dismiss that false idea from your mind. Lack of self-confidence would cheat you and your loved ones of the things that make life really worth living.

Your present position may have limitations as to salary, but it need not prevent you from earning the extra weekly check which I can make possible for you, and which would make all the difference between mere existence and an excellent living for you and your family. Many men and women who recently associated themselves with me in business are now laying a sure foundation for success and the full enjoyment of the best things in life.

By attending this truly remarkable Picture-Demonstration tonight you will learn how simple it is to better your present position by working for me six hours a week in your spare time. You will have the experience of seeing beginners who are successful in earnings: (1) An extra weekly check; (2) Extra monthly bonus check; (3) Down payment on $1000 automobile; (4) A $200.00 vacation trip to any part of the United States.

JAPAN CLAMORS FOR U. S. TO LIFT IMMIGRANT BARS

Press Assails White Race for "Selfishness."

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]
TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 6.—The announcement of Japan's increase in population has caused new outcries here against American exclusion of Japanese and the "white Australia" policy. Editorials attacking the selfishness of the white race are appearing in many Japanese newspapers. The Tokio Nichi Nichi conference yesterday said: "The question of surplus population is too earthly and practical to be solved in accordance with the principle of humanity and justice."

Demands Immigration Rights.
Referring to the two Americas, Australia, and Africa as thinly populated, the paper Yamato says: "If a monopoly on wealth by one man is a moral crime, a monopoly on natural resources by one nation likewise is criminal. Nations with scanty resources have a right to press people with limitless natural wealth for the privilege of sending their populations there."

Chung Shogro says that while the exclusion probably is legal justice, humanity refuses to recognize it as reasonable.

Yokohama declares Italy and Japan now are in the same boat, with an understanding reached since the Geneva naval conference failure.

"The voices of these nations, rising to influence, will in the course of time set the world ablaze," this paper says.

Agitate Against Japan.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 6.—Seventy representatives of commercial organizations met yesterday in the provincial assembly hall to promote further anti-Japanese agitation. The use of the assembly hall indicates that this action was sanctioned officially.

DEMANDS LEAGUE TAKE NEW STEPS TO OUTLAW WAR

Holland Urges Moral Disarmament.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]
GENEVA, Sept. 6.—Disarmament came to the fore front in the league of nations assembly today unexpectedly when Beelaerts Van Blokland, Holland's foreign minister, submitted a resolution asking for the revival of the non-aggression protocol of 1924. He declared the failure of the disarmament conference during the past year had proved that actual disarmament is impossible for the moment, and the question must be studied on its broader aspects.

The proposal was greeted with considerable enthusiasm by the Belgians, French, Germans, and Hollanders, although Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, apparently was unmoved by many of Jonkheer Blokland's thrusts.

Seeks Moral Disarmament.

"Disarmament and the league's theory have been put to hard tests in the last year," declared Jonkheer Blokland. "Events in the preparatory disarmament commission and the failure of the tripartite naval conference have shown that a reduction or limitation of armaments is still far away. But something must be done. The entire problem is dominated by moral disarmament. Moral disarmament is not yet sufficiently advanced, but it won't come as a gift from heaven. We must take action again upon the great principles whereupon the covenant was founded."

[The 1924 protocol, which was not accepted by the various governments, provided for compulsory arbitration of all disputes between nations, which might lead to war. The league council and the world court were to have been given larger powers to work out the adjustment of disputes and the nations were to be pledged to enforce decisions by common action.]

Strikes at Poland's Scheme.

Commenting in the press this evening on Poland's so-called nonaggression pact to cover all Europe, British Foreign Secretary Chamberlain said he was not opposed to the plan, but he said he could not see where it would bring further security. Rather, he said, it would detract from the League treaty. He announced his willingness to support regional security pacts based upon League principles. Canada officially entered the race for a council seat today. Sir Austen admitted the British empire delegations would support Canada. Portugal and Greece likewise are seeking a seat.

Poland Denies Alliance Plans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—Poland in its proposal to sign nonaggression treaties with the Baltic states and other European nations is not seeking an alliance which will in the future be used for military purposes against Germany and Russia, as reactionary persons and papers in Germany and Russia declare, but is seeking to insure peace in eastern Europe.

Poland takes the viewpoint that the league of nations conference decisions have not excluded the possibility of war, and that the nations must act among themselves to establish guarantees by nonaggression treaties, as well as by using The Hague court and other means of outwarring future wars.

CHINA BIDS FOR U. S. WITHDRAWAL FROM TIENTSIN

Cites the Removal of Japan's Troops.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, China, Sept. 6.—Peking government has asked the American legation if, in view of the Japanese retirement from Shantung province, the security in north China justifies the withdrawal of the American marine forces at Tientsin.

There are about 3,000 marines at Tientsin, where winter quarters are being arranged. Now most of the men are in tents. They later will be housed in warehouses and at the racing club.

U. S. Position Unchanged.

Although it is not likely that there will be serious fighting in the north during the winter, the Americans regard the general situation as unchanged. It is possible, however, that no replacements will be sent, with the force reduced 55 per cent during the winter by the departure of those whose enlistments are expiring.

Report Chiang Coming to U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 6.—Information from official circles says Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, former generalissimo of the Nationalist Chinese nationalist armies, will sail Wednesday for the United States.

Gen. Chiang's wife and daughter already are on a ship bound for the United States and are due in San Francisco late this week.

De Voney Bros. Freed of New York Larceny Charge

John and Joseph De Voney, brothers with real estate offices in the Straus building, were discharged yesterday when they were arraigned in the South Clark street court following their arrests on warrants charging them with grand larceny in New York. Gov. Small refused to sign extradition papers, and Judge William R. Fetter ordered the case nolle prossed.

MUNDELEIN SAILS DOWN TO QUEBEC FROM MONTREAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 6.—Cardinal Mundelein enjoyed the Catholic stronghold of Canada today. On the palatial yacht of Montreal harbor commissioners, the Sir Hugh Allen, he sailed 146 miles down the St. Lawrence from here to Quebec. He viewed the scores of Quebec villages dotting the shores, in each of which the church spire is the commanding feature.

Church leaders of Quebec accompanied the visiting Chicago prelate, explaining the points of interest on route. Cardinal Mundelein was to be the guest at a state dinner in Quebec. He will return to Montreal on Thursday, leaving the same day for Chicago.

Granted in Ottawa.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 6.—Ernest La Pointe, minister of justice, and McGr. Andrus, apostolic delegate to Canada and New Foundland, greeted Cardinal Mundelein in Ottawa yesterday. The cardinal was feted at the station and given a banquet at the archbishop's palace. He left in three hours for Montreal.

BRITISH BREAK LEAVES U. S. FREE IN NAVAL PLANS

Coolidge Sees No Reason for New Conference.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Rapid City, S. D., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Lord Cecil's resignation from the British cabinet, with the statement that he was more in sympathy with the American disarmament proposals than his colleagues, will have no immediate effect on the present status of navy building in this country, in the opinion of President Coolidge.

The suggestion that this action might open the way to a new disarmament conference does not commend itself to the President as logical. He pointed out today that the United States had made its position on this situation as clear as possible.

Leaves Division Wider.
The British government did not agree to limit the building of cruisers. One member of the government, whose personal views came nearer to agreement with the United States than the others, having withdrawn himself from authority, leaves the British government more against American views in this matter than they were before, according to the President's analysis of the situation.

The President is waiting until he gets to Washington to take up taxes, naval building, ambassadorial appointments, and other big questions. He has no further engagement of importance at Rapid City.

He is also leaving the matter of calling a special session of the senate until such time as he has an opportunity to confer with senators.

Benefited by His Trip.
The President feels physically benefited by his stay in the Black Hills and has found many new things to interest him. He plans no more trips into the country, but will work at his desk every day until Friday, when he starts for Washington. He expects to go directly to the repaired White House.

Mrs. Coolidge was entertained by the women of Rapid City today at a tea and reception at the Country club. The townspeople had planned a demonstration for the President, a half hour suspension of all business and a great gathering in front of the executive office. But this has been abandoned, and the President will now express his official good-by and his appreciation of the hospitality of the west in a little address to the crowd that comes to see him depart.

Liquor permits of Dr. Bernard Sayre, 3327 West Roosevelt road, and Dr. E. J. Puffer, 424 Liberty street, Aurora, Ill., were revoked last week. The permits of another physician and dentist were revoked by consent and their names withheld.

ALDERMAN INDIGNANT AS HE HEARS FAHERTY WILL USE BRITISH SHIP

Quoting Hamlet's advice to "suit the action to the word," Ald. L. J. Grossman (8th) protested yesterday that a city official sailing on a British ship is incompatible with Mayor Thompson's slogan, "America First."

Michael J. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements, who is going to Europe to study subway, has booked passage on an English vessel, Ald. Grossman said he learned. He wrote to the mayor asking him to see that Mr. Faherty patronizes the American merchant marine.

"As a patriot, I am indignant," the alderman said. "Just after we kicked King George out of Chicago, we spend American money on his ships. What's the big idea?"

"British delegates to this country on public missions always travel on British ships. The best ships in the world sail under Old Glory which our mayor is keeping nailed to the masthead. The American merchant marine is a most vital part of the country's defense. Chicagoans ought to use it."

ALLIES TO CUT WATCH ON RHINE BY 10,000 TROOPS

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Briand of France, acting as president of the allied conference of ambassadors, has formally notified Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany that the allied army of occupation in the Rhineland will be reduced from 10,000 to 5,000 men. It is understood the reduction will include a cut in the number of the high command in order to release buildings in various cities which the Germans desire for municipal governmental purposes.

GOSSIP OF THREE AS SUCCESSOR TO WAYNE WHEELER

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A successor to Wayne B. Wheeler in Washington will be named by the national executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America at its next meeting in Washington, Dec. 1, or earlier if the league's general officers deem a special meeting necessary for this purpose, Dr. A. J. Barton, Atlanta, chairman of the committee, said today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Three outstanding candidates now in the field to succeed the late Wayne B. Wheeler as legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, mentioned in discussion here today, are A. J. Davis, superintendent of the New York State Anti-Saloon League; the Rev. A. J. Barton of Nashville, Tenn., a member of the national league's executive committee, and James White, former superintendent of the Ohio State League.

Work to Be Divided.
It was indicated today that two men would be named to take over the work of Mr. Wheeler, who acted as legislative superintendent and general counsel, and that E. B. Dunford, who for years acted as Wheeler's confidential legal adviser, would be elected general counsel.

Mr. Wheeler's successor or successors will not be named, it was said, until the league's national board of directors meets in Washington on Dec. 11, during sessions of the biennial convention of the league. Until that time F. Scott McBride, general superintendent and former superintendent of the Illinois state league, who handled much of Mr. Wheeler's work during the latter's illness, will continue as acting counsel and legislative superintendent.

Funeral at Columbus Tomorrow.
Columbus, O., Sept. 6.—(U.P.)—The body of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, lies in state at the home of relatives here, pending funeral services at 2 p. m. Thursday at Central M. E. church.

MRS. STILLWELL LEAVES HUSBAND, RELATIVES ADMIT

Mrs. Frances Keyes Parsons Stillwell, Chicago society matron, was well out at sea yesterday en route to Paris as relatives confirmed rumors that she has separated from her husband, Addison Stillwell.

According to her sister, Mrs. John B. Slade of 1316 Forest avenue, Evanston, she is not making the trip to secure a Paris divorce. "They simply have agreed to go separate ways," Mrs. Slade averred. Mrs. Stillwell sailed Saturday from New York.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stillwell were previously married and divorced before their marriage. The daughter of the late Rollin A. Keyes, former president of the Franklin MacVeach company, Mrs. Stillwell was married in 1900 to Harry P. Parsons, for ten years mayor of Evanston. They were divorced in 1922.

Addison Stillwell was divorced about the same time from May Peabody Stillwell, daughter of a millionaire Hinsdale coal man. Before the divorces there were rumors of a mutual admiration between Mrs. Parsons and Stillwell.

ANNOUNCING

The New Smaller KISSEL

(Cushioned-In-Rubber)

Fourteen Hundred Ninety Five Dollars
Fab. Factory

A new 6-cylinder Kessel—companion car to the Kessel popular Straight Eight and Kessel DeLuxe Straight Eight.

Body by Kessel
Motor by Kessel

Now the new, smaller Kessel, after the Continental fashion... thoroughly European in the artistry and symmetry of its charming body lines, soundly American in the sturdiness of its chassis, the stamina and pliancy of its powerful 6-cylinder engine.

The smaller Kessel weighs about 3000 pounds. It is only 66 inches in height. Its wheelbase is just 117 inches. This beautiful new Kessel is endowed with the rich heritage of 21 years experience in custom building, engrained with the same careful craftsmanship, the same engineering precision that made famous its larger predecessors—the Kessel Popular Straight Eight and Kessel DeLuxe Straight Eight.

Swift as the wings of the wind—70 miles per hour, hour after hour! Comfortable without being cumbersome! Restful, yet ever restless to go! Buoyant yet steady and smooth, holding rigidly to the road at all speeds. Engine, springs and chassis are completely cushioned-in-rubber. Indeed, it is modern kin to the magic carpet in serene, graceful, luxurious travel.

This Kessel was designed primarily for those who wanted a smaller car of higher quality. This quality is priced within the range of all. Furnished in either the Sedan at $1495 or the Coupe-Roadster at $1595, f.o.b. factory. Standard equipped.

The new Kessel Popular Eight and the new DeLuxe Eight are also on display.

KIMBALL PIANOS

The Meaning of a
Seventieth Anniversary

A TONE that retains its beauty for a lifetime—an external physical grace excelled by no piano of any other name—are rarely associated with economical price.

Yet the seventy years' experience of the Kimball house has made the economy of Kimball prices as remarkable as the merit of each instrument placed on sale.

Methodical co-ordination of factory processes—ingeniously devised machinery—seasoned judgment in purchasing supplies—faultless organization—all these things make for economy, but they are only attainable through many years of development.

Why not judge for yourself? Come and hear the Kimball, and note the moderate prices marked on all these beautiful instruments. See the new styles in grand-period designs, classic-modern, reproducing grands, uprights and players. May we expect you here today?

The Kimball "One-Price" policy assures the same full, generous value to every purchaser. Partial payments if desired.

THREE COUNTIES ACT TO WIDEN ROOSEVELT ROAD

To Expand Right of Way and Seek State Aid.

On the assumption that the Illinois highway department is ready to pave Roosevelt road to the width of 40 feet through Du Page, Kane, and Cook counties as soon as a 100 foot right of way is provided, executive committees representing each of those counties yesterday announced they would provide such right of way.

George Lamb, state highway engineer in charge of the northern division at Elgin, said his department only awaits a 100 foot right of way from the counties before ordering work on the wider pavement.

Right of Way Now Smaller.

At present the right of way through Du Page county is 66 feet, but E. L. Gates, that county's superintendent of highways, said some weeks ago dedications of land had been obtained sufficient to give 100 feet of right of way.

Obstacles in Cook County.

Within Cook county, especially in Cicero, paving obstacles have been disclosed which must be overcome before Roosevelt road will provide high speed surface conditions. One of these is the physical condition of the tracks of the Chicago and West Town Electric railway, which traverse the road for three miles. That company has thus far been deaf to entreaties for participation in the improvement of the pavements. The Illinois commerce commission has been appealed to for an order to stimulate action by that railway, but without success. E. J. Carmody, Cicero's attorney, has attempted to stir the railway to act, but without results.

A committee composed of T. B. Chisholm, of the Western Electric, Mark Shanks, of the West Town club, J. E. Bulger, of the Chicago Motor club, and Mr. Carmody was named to follow this problem and report back a solution.

Louis Golan, chairman of the committee on removing the bottle neck at Crawford avenue, reported favorable activity, saying:

"Mayor Thompson and M. J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, have sent word to this meeting that the widening of Roosevelt road at Crawford avenue has their personal backing and will be pushed through immediately. The mayor said this road improvement was started in his former administration and that he would finish it in this. The first step is to get petitions of property holders for condemnation proceedings and those signatures will be ready in a short time. We are working on them now. There is no reason to believe any hitch will occur in this proceeding."

Books Impartial Faring Costs.

In the Cook county board yesterday Commissioner Boutwell introduced a resolution asking that the Chicago Association of Commerce be asked "to name a committee of men whom it considers qualified, to establish a fair unit construction cost for paving in Cook county, in order that a thoroughly impartial and accurate survey may be made regarding the fair construction costs for the next group of roads on which new pavement is to be laid, or old pavement widened."

The measure went to committee, but developed the fact that a definite determination of costs never had been settled on by the commission appointed by the board a month ago to fix unit of costs for the million dollar group of contracts let a week ago.

Commissioner Boutwell's proposal also awakened a demand by Commissioner Jaramowski and Carlson for a report from the highway department as to why road widening projects are not being pushed through. It was decided to go into the road widening question thoroughly at the next meeting of the commissioners.

DAVIS ADVOCATES STRICTER RULES FOR IMMIGRATION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(Upheld.)—Reinforcement of the immigration service at ports of entry and all along the borders, as well as the application of more rigid mental and physical tests to prospective immigrants at ports of embarkation, were advocated by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis today. The secretary returned to Washington today after a personal inspection of the three immigration stations in the country.

Secretary Davis asserted that he would extend the present inspection of prospective immigrants in their home ports of embarkation to include psychological tests and more rigid physical examinations.

Mr. Davis would not predict what the attitude of the incoming congress will be toward the changes he proposes, but he expressed confidence that adequate appropriations to permit a substantial increase in the number of immigration officers will be allowed.

MRS. SWEETIN'S 2D TRIAL IS PUT OFF TO SEPT. 13

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 6.—(U. P.)
—The second trial of Mrs. Mabel Sweetin
in for the poisoning of her husband,
Wilfred Sweetin, today was put back
one week to Sept. 13 on the joint motion of attorneys for the state and defense.

The motion for delay was based on the argument that R. H. Smith, chief of the defense staff, is busy preparing appeals for Charles Byrnes, was denied by Judge Roy Pierce.

Mrs. Sweetin was the center of interest in the courtroom. She appeared confident that she will be freed.
The Rev. Lawrence Hight of Ina, who was convicted with her at the first trial and sentenced to life imprisonment, will probably be the star defense witness.

Mrs. Hight, the pastor's wife and second victim of the confessed plot of the obstacles to their love affair, died exactly three years ago today.

today. The secretary returned to Washington today after a personal inspection of the three immigration stations in the country.

Secretary Davis asserted that he would extend the present inspection of prospective immigrants in their home
ports of embarkation to include psychological tests and more rigid physical examinations.

Mr. Davis would not predict what the attitude of the incoming congress will be toward the changes he proposes, but he expressed confidence that adequate appropriations to permit a substantial increase in the number of immigration officers will be allowed.

MRS. SWEETIN'S 2D TRIAL IS PUT OFF TO SEPT. 13

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 6.—(U. P.)
—The second trial of Mrs. Mabel Sweetin
in for the poisoning of her husband,
Wilfred Sweetin, today was put back
one week to Sept. 13 on the joint motion of attorneys for the state and defense.

The motion for delay was based on the argument that R. H. Smith, chief of the defense staff, is busy preparing appeals for Charles Byrnes, was denied
by Judge Roy Pierce.

Mrs. Sweetin was the center of interest in the courtroom. She appeared confident that she will be freed.
The Rev. Lawrence Hight of Ina, who was convicted with her at the first trial and sentenced to life imprisonment, will probably be the star
defense witness.

Mrs. Hight, the pastor's wife and second victim of the confessed plot of Hight and Mrs. Sweetin to clear away the obstacles to their love affair, died exactly three years ago today.

CHARGES METER LAW EXCEEDS DEMAND OF U. S.

Biosatt Calls It 10% Over
War Office Order.

Harry A. Biosatt, attorney for Mayor Thompson in his fight against universal water meters, last night revealed the arguments in his formal petition to the war department by which he seeks to modify the terms of its water withdrawal permit granted to the sanitary district.

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, received the petition yesterday and immediately forwarded it to Col. Edwin Schula, the local army engineer, for a report with recommendations. Pending Col. Schula's report, Gen. Jadwin declined to disclose the petition's contents, but gave Mr. Biosatt permission to do so.

"We base our case on three major points," the attorney said. "It shows first that the government does not and never has required universal metering; that the meter recommendation by Maj. Rufus Putnam, former army engineer at Chicago, was unwarranted, and that the mayor's substitute plan to stop water pipe leakage will save more water anyway."

The new point made in the petition apparently is the first as it is intended to upset the contention that universal metering was forced on Chicago whether the city liked it or not.

Section eight of the permit, (by which 8,500 cubic feet of water per second are allowed for the drainage canal flow from the lake) according to the petition, requires that the city "meter at least 90 per cent of its water service," installing 10 per cent of the meters each year. The council ordinance provides for 100 per cent metering, 10 per cent more than was required, the Biosatt petition points out. The Biosatt application, it was announced yesterday, has been accepted as an official communication of the city council and it will be so considered by the aldermen who confer with Gen. Jadwin at Washington Thursday morning.

Thirteen aldermen will take the trip, leaving this afternoon. They are John S. Clark (30th), chairman of the finance committee; L. R. Anderson (2nd); E. A. Grossen (4th); W. R. O'Toole (14th); T. F. Moran (18th); D. A. Horan (21st); Jacob Arvey (34th); J. R. Bowler (35th); J. M. Maypole (38th); J. H. Smith (39th); O. F. Nelson (44th); E. J. Kaindl (34th); Max Adamowski (38th). Mr. Biosatt will accompany them.

Col. Arthur Rehm Elected Head of Oak Park Board

Col. Arthur Rehm, who served with the 132d infantry, 33d division, during the world war, was chosen president of the Oak Park village park board last night to take the place of the late Harry A. Taylor. Col. Rehm has been a member of the park board for several years. His place as a member was filled by Clarence A. Willard, former president of the Oak Park chamber of commerce. President Rehm will serve until the next election in 1929.

RIDING MASTER'S ERSTWHILE PUPIL WINS ANNULMENT

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—[Special.]

Jerome W. Bradley, youthful riding master, whose elopement to Waukegan in 1925 with Emily Foerster, one of his pupils and daughter of a millionaire Milwaukee lumberman, was followed by his suit for $250,000 against his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Foerster, in which he charged them with alienating the affections of his wife, was legally separated from his bride today when Judge C. M. Davison granted her an annulment in Port Washington Circuit court.

Mrs. Bradley's complaint said that Jack was cruel and that she has ceased to love him. The couple had not lived together after their Waukegan marriage, it was testified last year in Bradley's alienation suit. Bradley did not contest the annulment. Bradley's suit for damages was based on allegations that he was refused admittance to the home of his parents-in-law where he had taken Emily on the same day they were married.

From a photograph of samples of concoctions which have been passed off as "Lysol" Disinfectant. Your protection against such flagrant substitutions is the genuine "Lysol" Disinfectant bottle which is always packed in the yellow carton—as shown below.

Have you been a victim, too?

CERTAIN unscrupulous druggists in this community have been selling as "Lysol" Disinfectant spurious imitations.

In this they are not only breaking the law; they may be risking human health and life because no one can tell without chemical analysis what the substitutes are made of.

In fact, some of the substitutions have been found to be crude creosote, such as is used to preserve house shingles, railroad ties and fence posts!

You and your home are being exposed to disease at the very time when you need protection most—when colds and grippe and influenza germs are rife.

For the protection of the public, reliable druggists and their own trademark, the makers of "Lysol" Disinfectant are proceeding against those who are passing off substitutes as this standard product.

The United States District Court for this District has just entered decree against local infringers of the "Lysol" Disinfectant trademark. Still other substitutes will be similarly prosecuted.

For your further protection remember these facts:

- 1 "Lysol" Disinfectant is manufactured only by Lysol, Incorporated, Bloomfield, N. J.
- 2 "Lysol" Disinfectant is never sold to drug stores in bulk. It is bottled at the laboratories. It comes only in a brown bottle which bears a yellow label and is packed in a yellow carton. (See their reproductions at the right.)
- 3 Thus bottled and packed, "Lysol" Disinfectant is sold in only three sizes: 3-ounce, 7-ounce, 16-ounce.
- 4 Any product otherwise bottled (even though labeled "Lysol") which is sold for "Lysol" Disinfectant, is spurious and the purchaser is warned against its use as a germicide, PARTICULARLY WHEN APPLIED TO THE BODY.
- 5 If you ask for "Lysol" Disinfectant and are sold another product without explanation by the seller that it is not "Lysol" Disinfectant, the seller is breaking the law and is liable to prosecution. But for your own sake, beware of substitution and insist on "Lysol" Disinfectant.

It has many vital uses

FOR more than 30 years "Lysol" Disinfectant has been standard with hospitals and physicians. In the home, its uses are vital and many. For example:

For cleaning. "Lysol" Disinfectant in your regular cleaning water will kill the germs that soap and water only set in motion. (And it helps to clean, too.)

For feminine hygiene. The practice of feminine hygiene was built upon "Lysol" Disinfectant. It is still best and surest for this purpose.

For first aid. A solution of "Lysol" Disinfectant should always be handy on cuts, burns, wounds, skin eruptions, ivy poison, insect bites, etc., to prevent infection.

For preventing sickness. Disease germs cannot live in a home guarded by "Lysol" Disinfectant. It is your first line of defense in time of epidemics. Get a bottle today. Complete directions on every bottle.

DAWES TO TALK BEFORE LEGION ON LEVIATHAN

Pershing and Others to Speed Paris Voyagers.

(Picture on back page.)
Vice President Charles G. Dawes will be a guest of honor and principal speaker at a farewell dinner to Paris-bound Legionnaires aboard the steamship Leviathan in New York harbor on Friday night, it was announced yesterday.

Among others who are expected to speak at the dinner are Gen. John J.
Forsyth, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Howard P. Savage, national commander of the American Legion; Rear Admiral Kuntz, Secretary of War
Davis, and former Judge K. M. Landis.
Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord will be toastmaster. The dinner is being given by the United States Shipping board.

Takes Largest Group.
The Leviathan will have aboard, it is said, the largest single contingent of American Legion members to attend the Paris convention. Among those on the ship's sailing lists are Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartgan, Capt. Ferris C. Watkins, former Illinois commander of the Legion.
General Dawes last night was planning to leave for New York on the Twentieth Century tomorrow. He will be accompanied by one group of ex-service men who have been steadily moving toward the Atlantic seaboard to take the steamers all week.
Chicago Sends 800.
Legion leaders last night predicted that the representation of Illinois at the convention may reach 1,000, of which number Chicago will contribute at least 500.

Members of the Kankakee drum and hugie corps and the 25 piece band from Bloomington arrived in Chicago over the Illinois Central last night and were dinner guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel La Salle.
Following the banquet, the contingents marched to the Baltimore and Ohio station to entrain for New York.
En route they will have a few hours in Washington today. They sail tomorrow aboard the Caronia.

Old Gang Sails Today.
Today members of the "Old Gang," 250 strong, comprising many members of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8
Chevaux, are scheduled to sail today aboard the Republic. This party is headed by Martin L. Callahan and includes Brig. Gen. Boland and Ed Toner of the Commonwealth Edison post, Ed
Boles of the Forges post, Ed
McGinnis of Nation post, and Terry
O'Brien of North Shore post.

SICK CONVICT PUT IN "SWEATBOX"; FIND HIM DEAD

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 6.—(AP)— Henry Ridley, Negro, serving a four year sentence for manslaughter, was found dead in a "sweatbox" of a state road camp today.

A coroner's jury decided that Ridley came to his death by natural causes, the exact nature of which was not known.

T. Foster, captain of the camp, told the jury that the Negro had been sick and had been given medical attention, and that he had been placed in the "sweatbox" when repeatedly refusing to work.

The "sweatbox" is a wooden structure, just large enough to hold a person standing upright, used in road camps for disciplinary purposes. It was instituted when the whipping of prisoners was forbidden.

THE SPORTS HAT

Expresses the Autumn Mode
in Well Defined Lines

IN the new sports mode there is interest in well-defined lines accented in soft rich surfaces. These effects are almost daring in the absence of trimming—for here is the hat whose tiny brim and snug-fitting crown are tucked in intricate ways. The new uneven brimmed hat with the crown pulled in soft folds—those very close turbans with smart manipulations.

And always the hats chosen from the significant groups here are individually chic.

LOW FUNDS MAY HOLD UP VITAL FLOOD REPAIRS

Davis Renews Appeal to U. S. Controller.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Engineers working to repair crevasses in the Mississippi levees below St. Louis will be compelled to abandon the project within a month unless additional funds are made available almost immediately, according to Secretary of War Davis, who returned to Washington today after a conference with Col. C. L. Potter. The secretary declared that a survey shows there are more than 250 serious crevasses, and that at least $2,000,000 more will be needed to fill them.

No answer has been received from the controller general, according to Secretary Davis, in response to a request for reconsideration of an earlier refusal of authority to divert the needed funds from other appropriations in view of the emergency which exists, and the judge advocate general of the army has been directed to recommend other measures to secure the money.

Mr. Wilber intends to purchase an airplane and travel extensively. In a few days he will take up his plane alone. Later he will be given his diploma as a first class pilot.

Old Folks Say Doctor
Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Back to School

Vacation is over, and with it flexible meal times. Now breakfast, dinner and supper must be planned around the children's activities. More rigid supervision of their diets—hearty breakfasts—warm dinners—simple suppers—these are the daily necessities.

If we could say that one meal is more important than another, then we would choose breakfast. After a long night's sleep the stomach is completely empty, there is a full, active day ahead, so we must give the youngsters enough of the right kind of food to start the day auspiciously.

So many mothers ask me what they can do to make their children get up in the morning, in time to eat a proper breakfast. The answer is a simple one, and, with a little firmness, can be easily carried out. It is this: there must be a definite bedtime, and the children must go to bed at that time. No exceptions can be made. This will in turn simplify getting up in the morning.

A hot, nourishing, unhurried breakfast is a necessity. School hours are taxing, play hours are cram full, so the children must have enough of the energy foods to supply them all through the morning. Hot cereals fill this need, as they are most nourishing and give heat and energy to these small, active bodies. Vary the cereals from day to day, and serve different fruits with them. Top milk is better than cream for the cereal. On cold mornings, when milk alone seems chilly, fix one of the cereal beverages with hot milk, or make a hot malted milk.

The menus below will serve as example of what the school child should have, and eat, for breakfast:

Orange Juice

Highest Qualifications are Demanded

To Meet the Responsibilities of the Chicago
Branch of a Nation-wide Institution Like Ours

FROM Branch Managers E. B. Thurman and W. C. Peck, down to the youngest representative on their large and able force, every member of our Chicago organization has been selected because of his individual exemplification of and adherence to Missouri State Life ideals.

In point of executive ability, in knowledge of Insurance in all its branches—Life, Accident and Health, and Group—in courtesy toward the public and eagerness to serve, we unhesitatingly commend them all and individually to the people of our Chicago territory. You can depend upon them, they will serve you well. And the policies they have to offer are worthy of serious consideration.

The Missouri State Life is a nation-wide institution. In 35 years it has become 19th in size among America's 348 Legal Reserve life insurance companies. In the last five years it has more than doubled its insurance in force. Its new business for six months in 1927 shows an increase of 45.8% over the same period in 1926.

This Company writes all forms of Life, Accident and Health, and Group insurance. Its policies are broad in coverage and free from restrictions; and its rates, as low as consistent with security and best service, are the minimum for the Utmost in Protection.

We will be glad to answer any question touching any form or phase of insurance—individual or corporation—in which you may be interested. Your request for information involves no obligation on your part.

DID NOT OFFER MCCRAY $10,000, JACKSON'S REPLY

Indiana Governor Denies Political Deal.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Breaking his long silence, Gov. Jackson today branded as untrue charges that while secretary of state he offered Warren T. McCray, then governor, $10,000 and immunity from conviction in the county courts if he would name James E. McDonald as Marion county prosecutor instead of William H. Remy. McCray appointed Remy.

The denial was in the form of a letter to Boyd Gurley, editor of the Indianapolis Times, and was made public shortly after Gov. Jackson had been in conference with Robert L. Marsh, his former law partner, who recently was a witness before the Marion county grand jury, which is investigating the alleged offer to McCray.

According to published charges McCray refused the offer and Marsh then introduced D. C. Stephenson, now life term prisoner at the Indiana state prison, to James W. Noel, McCray's attorney, and Stephenson is alleged to have repeated the offer in Marsh's presence.

Here's Governor's Letter.
The governor's letter to Mr. Gurley reads: "Some weeks ago you made the charge through the columns of the Indianapolis Times that I, in 1925, while secretary of state, offered a bribe to Gov. McCray in consideration that he appoint Mr. McDonald prosecuting attorney instead of Mr. Remy. I thought at the time that this charge, like many other false charges that have been made, should be ignored."

"I have felt that one occupying the office of governor of the state should not engage in answering such charges as have been so freely made without any foundation for them. However, since my return from a short vacation my attention has been called to a recent editorial in the Times in which you suggest that this charge should be taken as true simply because it has not been answered."

Acted on Bishop's Request.
"Such a conclusion is no more warranted than is the charge itself, but for the sole purpose of avoiding even a doubt in the minds of your readers as to whether such a conclusion should be reached, I want to say that the charge published by you is untrue. I sat with Gov. McCray about the appointment of Mr. McDonald at the request of my friend, Bishop H. H. Post."

"Bishop Post came to my office and requested as a personal favor to him that I present the name of Mr. McDonald to Gov. McCray for appointment to the office of prosecuting attorney. I told him that I had no personal interest in the appointment of a prosecuting attorney, but would suggest Mr. McDonald's name for the job."

"When I told Gov. McCray that my friend, Bishop Post, wanted me to suggest Mr. McDonald's name for appointment to the office of prosecuting attorney Gov. McCray informed me that he already had concluded to appoint Mr. Remy. This was the first time I knew that Mr. Remy was being considered for the appointment. I told Gov. McCray so, and complimented him upon the selection of Mr. Remy. I was Gov. McCray's friend and talked with him as such at the example as to how an innocent transaction can be misrepresented and an entirely wrong light placed upon it."

Here Stephenson Flee Today.
The outcome of a federal court hearing in South Bend Wednesday on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, who is serving a life term in the Indiana state prison for the murder of Judge Oberholzer, is being awaited with interest here.

The writ is based on the ground that Stephenson is deprived of his natural citizenship rights as guaranteed under the federal constitution.

DUVALL DROPS DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST PRESS

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Mayor John L. Duvall, through his attorney, James E. Roach, late this afternoon formally dismissed the $1,000,000 damage suit he filed last fall against several individuals and newspapers, including The Tribune.

In addition to The Tribune, the defendants included Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes publisher, who started the inquiry into alleged corrupt conditions in Indiana; his son, Chester H. Adams, and D. C. Stephenson, former head of the Klan in Indiana, now serving a life term in state prison.

A cross complaint, filed by Stephenson shortly after Duvall had filed his suit, also was withdrawn today. The Duvall suit grew out of the publication of a photograph of an alleged agreement bearing Duvall's name and purporting to assure D. C. Stephenson that in event of Duvall's election as mayor Stephenson's approval would be obtained on the naming of members of the board of works and that Claude M. Worley would be named chief of police. The mayor branded the alleged agreement as a forgery. Worley a few days ago was appointed chief of police by Duvall, replacing Claude F. Johnson, who was named chief at the beginning of the Duvall administration.

U. S. TARIFF NOT TARGET OF WORLD BANKERS' EDICT

Capital Believes Europe Only Was in Mind.

(Chicago Tribune, Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Officials here generally agree with the views of President Coolidge, as expressed at Rapid City, that the trade barriers interfering with the flow of commerce between nations referred to in the so-called international bankers' manifesto issued some months ago have no application to the American protective tariff system, but only to the tariff walls between the various European countries.

In the interest of international good will, the President is reported as feeling that there should be a clear explanation to show that the manifesto was intended to apply only to the situation existing in Europe and that it was not an attack on the fundamental principle of protection in the tariff policy of the United States.

Deny U. S. Was Target.
The manifesto was interpreted at once after its issuance in London as applying to this country as well as to Europe. This quickly encountered American denial, however. President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon, Senator Borah, Julius H. Barnett, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and others taking the position that the manifesto was aimed only at the "artificial barriers of Europe."

President Coolidge was reported at that time, commenting on the document, to be opposed to the reduction proposals contained therein if meant to apply to the United States. Senator Borah declared that it was only a move to enhance in the United States the value of private investment abroad. Mr. Barnett insisted it did not apply to the United States.

Details of the Manifesto.
The appeal, which was signed by a group of bankers and industrialists from sixteen countries, including the United States, urged the reduction of tariff barriers to aid in the restoration of commerce, declaring that it was "difficult to view without dismay the extent to which tariff barriers, special licenses and prohibitions since the war have been allowed to interfere with international trade and to prevent it from flowing in its natural channels."

The manifesto went on to declare that the "break up of the great political units in Europe dealt a heavy blow to international trade." It asserted that "trade is not war, but a process of exchange, and that in times of peace our neighbors are our customers and their prosperity is a condition of our own well being."

There are "signs that opinion in all countries is awakening at last," the manifesto added, "to the dangers ahead," and it went on to point out that the league of nations and the International Chamber of Commerce "have been laboring to reduce to a minimum all formalities, prohibitions and restrictions," which interfere with international trade. The "breaking down of economic barriers" in all directions was urged.

"The establishment of economic freedom," the manifesto said, "is the best hope of restoring the commerce and the credit of the world."

Among the group of bankers who signed the manifesto on behalf of the United States were J. P. Morgan of New York, and J. J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Merchants Trust company.

YOU know all about shooting Kadiak bear in Alaska, perhaps—but the sea holds big game too—how would it feel to be towed by a tarpon off the Florida Coast?

You know the points of a polo pony, but how about yachting, or motorboating, or shooting in the blinds? The greater your proficiency in one sport, the more certain it is that you are already on the brink of another.

Today is the day of the multi-sportsman. New Worlds! Read about them in The Sportsman. It chronicles your favorite sport expertly; it represents these new sport-worlds both competently and enticingly.

GERMANS HERE PLAN TO HONOR VON HINDENBURG

It was announced yesterday that German-Americans of Chicago will meet in the Auditorium on Sept. 25 to honor President Von Hindenburg of Germany, who will celebrate his eightieth birthday on Oct. 2.

As president of Germany he has regained the confidence of the world in his country, saved Europe from the onslaughts of bolshevism, and proved the strongest bulwark of law and order on the continent, the committee in charge of the meeting asserted. Contributions will be sent in his name for the benefit of orphans and orphans of the war. Paul F. Mueller, Otto L. Schmidt, Ernest J. Krueger, Arthur C. Leuder, Dr. Carl Beck, Emil Eitel, and many others are sponsoring the meeting.

Missing Teacher Kidnaped; Captors to Seek Ransom

CORNING, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Miss Gertrude E. McClure, a teacher in the Corning schools, who has been missing since Aug. 28, is held for ransom by kidnapers, according to a letter received by the young woman's uncle, Duncan McClure of Johnson City.

ELGIN & AURORA UNION ACCEPTS PAY COMPROMISE

Trainmen and other employees of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric railway will receive a wage increase of 1 cent an hour each year for the next three years under a new agreement between the company and the employees' union.

This year the rate for motormen is raised from 75 cents an hour to 76 cents an hour, and that of collectors from 55 cents to 56 cents an hour. Several days ago the company officers suggested the 3 cents raise to cover the three year period. This was accepted on referendum by the 440 members of the trainmen's union. Le Roy Dolan, business manager of the union, negotiated the three year contract.

Arbitration proceedings to settle demands of Chicago street car men for salary increase of 15 cents an hour are expected to begin within a few days.

EVANSTON WOMAN, 81, DIES.
Mrs. Martina Dale, 81 years old, 230 South Boulevard, Evanston, died here yesterday, supposedly from heart disease.

HUNT ROBBERS WHO GOT $2,300 IN CHEZ PIERRE

Police last night were convinced that the $2,300 heldup late yesterday in the Chez Pierre, a night club at 247 East Ontario street, was directed by some one familiar with the employee and routine of the place and their investigations were directed towards discovering such a person, they said.

The place was entered late in the afternoon by two armed men who bound Mrs. Lydia Moses, the cashier, to a chair and took the money which she was about to carry to a bank. While they were in the midst of the robbery a solicitor for advertising matter entered, and he, too, was bound to a chair.

Senator Watson Taking Treatments for Ulcers

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, who has been here several days for treatment of a duodenal ulcer, said today that he is feeling well and no operation will be necessary.

BRUCE MACLEISH IS DEFENDANT IN FEDERAL SUIT

Suit was filed in the United States District court yesterday by Lewis H. Little of Seattle, Wash., seeking to enforce an agreement between Little's sister, Sarah R. Little, and Bruce MacLeish, son of Andrew MacLeish.

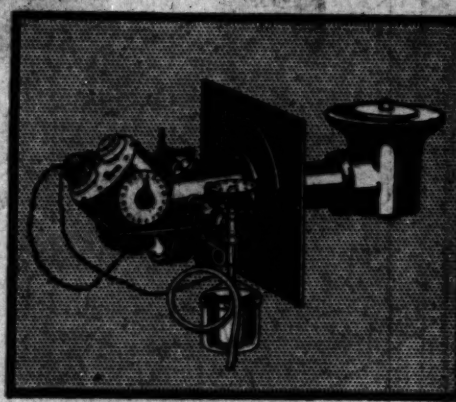

The complaint cites an agreement by Bruce MacLeish to transfer property valued at more than $50,000 to Miss Little. The defendants live in Glenview and are socially prominent there. The suit charges that Miss Little sold the homestead of her mother, the late Mrs. Virginia M. Little, a pioneer Chicagoan, at 328 West Adams street and turned the funds over to MacLeish. Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis is attorney for Lewis Little.

RECAPS REMOVAL AGAIN.
John Kennedy, 29 years old, colored, who is wanted in Kansas, Ga., on charges of murder, and who for a month successfully fought extradition in the Municipal court, was removed on board the Delta Star on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday, when his attorney appeared with a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Harry E. Hill.

OIL heat used to be a luxury only the wealthy could afford. But this is no longer true. For today a dial-controlled Rex Power Burner, completely installed and ready for use, costs you only $315. You can buy this burner on a down payment of $25, and have a year to pay off the balance, without the customary interest charges.

Rex is a new and revolutionary development in oil heating. It works on the constant flame principle, giving you steady, even heat at all times. So it costs less to operate than other burners, besides giving you greater comfort. The dial-controlled model is regulated just as you tune your radio.

Rex Automatic—$415 Complete
With complete automatic controls, the Rex Power Burner sells for $415, including tank and installation. This burner gives you all the comforts and conveniences of others costing two or three times its price. Terms are $35 down and a year to pay the balance. No interest.

PASCOE

QUIET OIL BURNER

Rex Power Burners are being handled by The Wm. H. Pascoe Co., makers of the well-known burner bearing that name. They believe Rex fills a distinct need for heating modest homes and for use as a water heater.

Pascoe Quiet Burners will heat anything from the smallest dwelling up to a large factory or hotel. Thousands are giving complete satisfaction after several seasons' hard use. They are distinctly different from other burners of similar heating capacity, burning cheaper oil and getting more heat out of it.

Mail the coupon for complete information on Rex and Pascoe Burners, or for a call by one of our engineers. He will inspect your home and give you data on how it should be heated, without cost or obligation to you.

FOOT ills don't occur suddenly. They usually have their beginning in childhood... and most of the blame can be laid on the shoes. The most harm, doctors say, comes from stiff, unyielding soles that deny tender little foot-bones the barefoot freedom they must have to grow strong and healthy. That's why it is wise for you to see that your children's shoes not only fit properly, but also that they are bottomed with light, flexible Spartan Soles.

Spartan is an entirely different leather that is so pliant and flexible it responds instantly to every movement of little feet. It gives them a new freedom, a new comfort they've never known before. It allows their feet to develop naturally, to grow strong and healthy—trouble free.

GRATON & KNIGHT COMPANY, Worcester, Mass.
Most quality department stores and shoe shops are now selling Spartan Soled shoes in various makes, styles and prices. Genuine Spartan Soles have spots of Gold tattooed into the leather. Now—the Gold Spot has only been recently adopted as that at present many stores may have Spartan Soled shoes without this identification. The dealer's word, however, will protect you.

REVEAL WHO GET CHOICE TICKETS TO BIG FIGHT

$700,000 Allotment Distributed.

Employees of the Getz-Rickard organization yesterday delivered to purchasers the first large allotment of tickets for the championship fight of Sept. 22 and additional distributions will be made today. More than $700,000 worth of tickets was turned over to the buyers yesterday.

Rickard, incognito promoter of the Tunney-Dempsey scrap, laughed last night over the report that he intended to increase the number of $40 seats from the original number—40,000. "The tickets have been printed," he said, "and the cheaper grades already are scattered around. I couldn't transform the $30 seats into $40 seats if I were crazy enough to want to."

No Need for Secrecy.

Another spokesman for the dual promoters spoke today, there is no need for secrecy regarding the allotment of tickets. "The public has been told from the start," he said, "that the good ringside seats are in the hands of Mr. Getz's committee. The business men on that group have tried hard to deal the best seats available. They have said repeatedly that only through the committee could a man obtain a seat close to the ring. Any one who has bought $40 seats at the public office on the theory that he was getting a seat near the ring has only himself to chide."

All of the large blocks, it was explained, are to be redistributed by the promoters to individuals. There is no mystery regarding the allotment. All the tickets were paid for. There is no free lot. Some of the tickets bought in blocks went to the following:

John Thompson.....	600
Jack Board.....	3,500

Harry Motz, Chicago publisher.....	1,200
Harry Curley of Boston and party.....	125
William Duffy, New York.....	200

That is only a partial list of blocks of tickets allotted out of the ringside sections. Several sections went direct to Mr. Getz, but accompanying him, it was explained, was an individual request for every seat. Mr. Getz, it is said, bought more than half a million dollars' worth of tickets.

Fighters Get 500 Tickets.

Tunney and Dempsey also got blocks of seats. Their total reached 500. Others to whom allotments were made included:

Fans to Pay $1,666 a Second to See Fighters Bust Beaks

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Two weeks and a couple of days from now two large, healthy young men will step into a roped off square and try to knock one another senseless with their fists. You've heard about that. If you should have a disagreeable moment with a street car conductor or vice versa and the pair of you should step over on to the sidewalk to arbitrate the matter with your knuckles in your own club, somebody probably would blow a scream on a police whistle and presently you would be locked up in a very unpleasant place for a couple of hours. Eventually some judge would rattle the don't book and read you a law about fist fighting being contrary to public morals and you would be fined six per cent would support a young man are capable of killing people or impairing their brains or rupturing their livers with their fists, but when the Moore, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey step into this roped off place on the evening of Sept. 22, weather permitting, to fight with their knuckles, they not only will be immune to arrest, but under the protection of the police, and far from being fined for this they will be paid a great deal of money.

Fans to Unroll $3,000,000.

The spectators, or customers, will pay in round numbers $3,000,000 for seats more or less expensive to see the fight of equals, and $3,000,000 is more money than many a big, conscientious, carefully managed business concern with thousands of employees, and with agents in the far places of the world, can make in a year. This fight will last no more than 30 minutes, so if you take the trouble to dot-and-carry-one for a moment you discover that the entertainment will cost the approximately $1,666 a second, or $99,600 a minute.

The price per second is as much money as many an industrious, intelligent provider with kids to feed and a bungralow to pay for can make by strict attention to business in the course of a year. The annual interest on the rate-per-minute for this fight is $1,666 a second, or $99,600 a minute. ### Flynn Tells How Horse Walked Out from Under Him

Mr. Leo Flynn, floor walker for Mr. Jack Dempsey, the noted civic uplifter, is convalescent from his favorite charger, Charge, it came out from under him during a brisk morning canter around the Lincoln Fields race track. Mr. Flynn was able to eat a light diet of liver and onions off a shelf yesterday and felt well enough to prepare a statement explaining that he did not fall off his steed but merely missed connections after an unusually high bounce.

"I bounced about three feet," says the statement, "and I was expecting to land in the chair as usual, but when I descended my charger was not there, so I decided to keep on descending." Mr. Flynn's communique adds that he is still able to present an unruffled front, stating: "I did not descend on my front; quite the reverse."

Admiring friends of Mr. Flynn are taking a subscription to purchase a pedigree rocking chair, equipped with stirrups and aviator's safety belt, as a tribute to his horseman's injuries. Rumors that Mr. Flynn was facing a stern warning when Charge it walked out from under him continue to be heard in the fashionable riding set at Mr. Dempsey's camp, and Herr Benny Kruger, the noted Hamburger, when interviewed on the mysterious occurrence, stated:

"Herr Flynn was riding behind me."

The charger is doing as well as might be expected. Dempsey visited Rickard in Chicago yesterday, played nine holes of golf, and called it a day.

ring because he was too Irish to quit and too weak to get his hands up and the referee too mindful of a money's worth of a year. ### WIGGINS BUTTS TUNNEY ON EYE; OPENS LONG CUT Champion to Lay Off Boxing Today.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
(Chicago Tribune Staff Writer.)

Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 6.—Gene Tunney received his first injury today while training for his fight with Jack Dempsey.

In the third round of his bout with Chuck Wiggins, the Indianapolis fighter accidentally butted the champion over his right eye, opening a cut nearly an inch long.

As a result of the injury there will be no boxing in the Tunney camp today.

Neither Tunney nor manager Billy Gibson believes the cut will interfere with the champion's training plans. The wound will be given plenty of time to heal, even if Gene has to cause his kitchen maid to resign her job in his California mansion and the chauffeur has to wash the dishes.

Mr. Tunney is 32 years old and has been boxing since he was 16. He is a professional in which a young man may rise from the stews and joints of desert towns in the west to such a position that he is worried sick because he is afraid to stop it. Then, too, Mr. Tunney, who is a professional in which a young man may rise from the stews and joints of desert towns in the west to such a position that he is worried sick because he is afraid to stop it. Then, too, Mr. Tunney, who is a professional in which a young man may rise from the stews and joints of desert towns in the west to such a position that he is worried sick because he is afraid to stop it.

Gene's One-Two Punch Effective.

When Vidsbeck stepped into the ring he was instructed not to lead for Tunney's injured eye. Billy obeyed orders and took a lacing around the head and body. Tunney's famous punch, the left lead followed by a right cross, was in evidence continually in this bout. He switched his attack at times by dropping the head and body. Tunney's left hand was always in evidence.

Tunney showed all the speed he displayed in yesterday's workout. His foot work was surprising newspaper men who had not seen him since the Dempsey fight of a year ago. Gene likes to work on his toes, and seldom gets down to box his foot. He was particularly effective today in slipping punches. When the blows went by his face or landed on the back of his head, he did not seem to mind.

Tunney spent two short rounds with the punching bag before starting his six rounds of boxing. He carried quite a few punches in his head and body. He was particularly effective today in slipping punches. When the blows went by his face or landed on the back of his head, he did not seem to mind.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

Gene Tunney's training camp on the shore of Fox lake is unusual. It has neither the appearance nor the atmosphere of what it is—the home of the heavyweight boxing champion and the some of his final preparations for a title fight.

The camp, as you have read, is located 58 miles northwest of Chicago. Its manager, Gene Tunney, is a country club and formerly the grounds and the houses composed the estate of the late Jackson K. Dering. The place retains the atmosphere of a splendid country residence.

Tunney and his retinue are living as if they were wealthy men vacationing at a summer home. Gene has a suite of three rooms as his living quarters. The view from his bedroom windows reveals a sweep of lawn and the blue tinted waters of Fox lake. There isn't a sound save that of motor cars to break the quiet of the country. There is a private golf course on a private estate across the wooded ravine and the tree lined roadway. There is a swimming pool below Gene's living room windows.

A private motor bus, now serving as a dormitory for newspaper men; private dining rooms, sun parlors, marble statuary, and oriental rugs are features seldom found in a boxer's training camp.

The visitor is more likely to feel that he is attending a reception than calling to see a man who makes his living by boxing his own gloves off another man's nose.

And Gene Tunney is as unusual a champion as his present home is an unusual training camp.

He speaks in a low voice, looks you in the eye, and says, "How do you do. I'm very glad to meet you, sir." "It's rather warm today," one suggested. "Does it bother you?" Tunney spoke easily, his voice carefully modulated, his manner restrained.

As he walked into the ring with springy step he bowed slightly at the crowd applauded. Dempsey grins and kids and punches his spar mates in the stomach. Tunney was as serious as a domestic. When Chuck Wiggins butted him in the head and the crowd started, Chuck lowered his hands and blurted: "Say, Gene, I didn't mean to do that." Tunney never smiled. "Go ahead," he said. "Don't stand back. It isn't anything. Don't worry. I don't know whether you get it or not, but Tunney is a strange fellow to be the heavyweight champion. He's different because he acts like a gentleman."

room he was wet from perspiration. He said he worked more easily than yesterday and gradually will be accustomed. He will do some road work tomorrow morning but there will be no boxing until Thursday because of the injured eye.

Manager Billy Gibson will go into Chicago tomorrow morning to get tickets for Tunney's friends and transact other business relative to the fight. About 400 saw today's workout.

CLEMENT CASE CONTINUED

Arguments on the petition for an injunction to restrain Jack Dempsey from fighting Gene Tunney Sept. 22 at Soldier's field, filed last week by the Chicago Coliseum club, were continued yesterday morning until Friday by Circuit Judge Otto Kern.

Attorneys Ralph and John Posen, representing the petitioners, called attention to a contract made by Dempsey with B. E. Clements, president and matchmaker for the club, to fight Harry Wills at Chicago, and stated that the club suffered money losses through the alleged fighting of Dempsey to live up to the contract.

PREP GRID TEAMS START WORK FOR FALL CAMPAIGNS

70 Report at Englewood; Senn Has 100.

Schools like Lane, Senn, Hyde Park, Englewood, Harrison, and Lindholm, where football is taken seriously, lost no time in beginning preparations for the 1927 football season yesterday. As soon as the opening day of school had ended, football candidates gathered and uniforms were distributed to eager youths who were anxious to start their fall football labors.

Practically every football coach yesterday gave out uniforms, conducted light drills or lined up prospective candidates. By today most of the school squads will begin in earnest.

Coch Coach Palmer at Englewood reported one of the largest applications for grid tugs, as nearly seventy were equipped. He took the boys out to Grand Crossing park, where punting and passing exercises were initiated. Seven members of last year's team were back, and prospects took a bit of a run to Palmer. Englewood's first practice game will be with Schurz, Sept. 17, so Palmer's boys will have to hustle.

Palmer wants games for Sept. 24 and Oct. 4, preferably with out of town schools, to complete his schedule.

City Champs Start Work.

Lindholm, the City High school footballers, unimpaired for about an hour. Coach Moore, who never is optimistic, usually, however, produces a winner.

Pat Twomey, who is beginning his eighth year as the Bowen coach, did not hand out uniforms. However, he will make up for lost ground and attempt to whip a green team into shape. Bowen's initial encounter will be at Oak Park Oct. 1, the only practice contest scheduled thus far.

Coaches Dougherty and Smith at Harrison Tech issued suits to 40 grid graduates of the spring training season and expected to have a squad of 50 drilling this afternoon. Thien at White City on Sept. 17 is the first opponent.

Senn Has Squad of 100.

Senn and Lane, the north side rivals, will be well represented. Coach Laurence of Lane conducted practice at Hamilton park with about fifty boys in logs. Coach Pierce of Senn reported that 100 youths were engaged in the six 1926 veterans available for the Tech squad which will make its initial bow in a competitive way Sept. 24 at De Paul field in two games with the Parochial learners.

Coach Frank Winters of Oak Park has a new assistant, Henry C. Souche, twelve years at the Iowa City High school. Both conducted the drill at Oak Park, and they began pointing the squad for the opener with Austin at Oak Park Sept. 24.

Jones to Quit Yale at End of 1927 Campaign

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 6.—(P)—T. A. D. Jones, head coach in football at Yale university, has resigned, effective at the close of the 1927 season. It was announced officially by Prof. George E. Nettleton, chairman of the Yale University athletic association, tonight.

Mr. Jones is in business here and increasing duties in that connection is understood to be the reason for his action. His contract as coach, which was a three year one, will terminate with the close of the 1927 season.

ETTELSON RULES POLICE CAN NOT STOP AMATEUR BOUTS

The police have no right to stop amateur boxing bouts at the request of the state boxing commission or the Amateur Athletic union, Corporation Counsel Ettelson held yesterday. Walter Meakin, a promoter, protested that the police stopped a bout at 1323 Milwaukee avenue because he did not consult the A. A. U., which he said, charged $10 for a permit. Mr. Ettelson said that the police can do nothing at amateur bouts except to enforce existing ordinances.

MAJORS

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates left their slender lead in the National League pennant race today by defeating Cincinnati, 1 to 0.

The Pirates gave proof of a complete return to form by holding the Reds to three scattered hits. Only 23 men faced the big Pirates hurler.

Ed Killebrew, star Pittsburgh outfielder, whose run in with Manager Donie Bush some weeks ago caused much comment in baseball circles, was benched in favor of a rookie. Cuyler has played only in pinches since he was hit by Bush for failing to slide into second base.

He was called on yesterday after Lloyd Waner's finger was injured, but today Bush took the veteran from the lineup.

Adrian Conner, lately from the Wichita club of the Western league, was sent to the outfield. Score:

baseball situation by slamming to center for two more runs.

Bottomley was run down between home and third on Blader's infield tap. Hater walked and so did L. Bell, the latter passing for Frish and causing Jones to retire to the bathroom. Blader went in. Stephenson brought an end to the terrible inning by plucking O'Farrell's drive a few inches from the left field wall.

Blader went into the third like he meant business, negotiating two outs before he was best. Holm got his third hit in three innings and Bottomley propelled one that still was rising when it hit the seats half way up in the right field pavilion. Frish added a single, but Beck speared Blader's fly. At this juncture the score was St. Louis, 3; Cubs, 0.

Cubs Keep on Scoring.

In the next inning the Cardinals kept going because Bell dropped a homer into the left field stands and the parade marched on in the last of the fifth for two more runs.

It was in the sixth that the Cubs ducked a shutout. English singled, went to second on Heathcote's infield out, paused while Stephenson flied, and registered on Wilson's single.

Utterly exhausted, the Cubs panned in the sixth and seventh, but in the eighth added two more. Blader tripped to the flagpole in center field and proceeded home when Webb, who had relieved Stephenson in left, muffed the relay. Hater walked and was forced by L. Bell. Snyder, who had taken over O'Farrell's job in the first half of the inning, singled, and in the scramble that followed the recovery English threw the ball to no place in particular, allowing Bell to score the thirteenth run of the game. ### CANZONERI RULED OUT OF ILLINOIS FOR NINETY DAYS

Tony Canzoneri of New York, contender for the featherweight championship, yesterday was suspended for 90 days and his license revoked by the Illinois state athletic commission for fouling Eddie Anderson in the second round of their battle here last Friday night.

Anderson claimed a foul both in the first and the second round, but Referee Joe Chynowski refused to allow it. During the intermission between the second and third rounds a physician for the boxing commission examined Anderson and found he had been fouled.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POTPOURRI.

IN THE excitement of the Cub pennant dash, or smash, as you prefer, and preliminaries to the Tunney-Dempsey fight, the imminent defense of the Davis cup by Yankee against French is being overlooked in this section.

If the defeat of both French doubles teams last week may be accepted as a true index of playing strength, then American chances, at one time regarded decidedly precarious, are materially improved. The Wake is more inclined to accept these results from the fact that the French in the last two challenges have not performed as well in pairs as individually. In 1925 Vincent Richards and Norman Williams did not allow Rene La Coste and Jean Borotra a single set, nor did even one set go to deuce games. Last year's the same Americans were equally heartless with Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon. Without the doubles, the challengers must win three of four singles matches. We can hardly conceive of Tilden losing two matches and Johnston one of two, or vice versa, which would be necessary for the French to lift the cup.

Added proof that football is at hand is furnished by the receipt—through courtesy of former Fellow Worker W. V. Morgenstern, now of the public relations department at the Midway—of a copy of A. A. Stagg's "Touchdown," autographed by the "Old Man" himself. "Touchdown" is a history of American football as told by Prof. Stagg to W. W. Stout. It is well worth reading by gridiron followers. (Longmans, Green & Co., publishers. Price $2.50.)

It requires something of an optimist to regard highly Cub pennant chances at this writing. The Wake by nature is an optimist. We have not lost patience with our team and we are hopeful, but cold, hard facts reveal

Farr Here for Friday's Bout at Mills' Park

Johnny Farr, the Cleveland Italian featherweight, who meets Ignatio Fernandez, the Filipino, in the feature bout of Promoter James Mullin's boxing show at the Mills stadium Friday night, arrived in Chicago yesterday and resumed training at the Mullin gymnasium.

It will be Farr's first appearance in Chicago, and local fans are eager to get a look at the fighter who has defeated such well known boxers as Joey Sugar, Eddie Shem, Johnny Hill, Babe Herman, and others. The Cleveland fighter can hit with his right hand and he has a fairly good left.

Although a lot of interest centered around Farr's appearance, the boxing of Red Uhlman of California made a hit with the fans who visited the Mullin gymnasium. Uhlman, who meets My Sullivan of St. Paul in one of the supporting ten round affairs, tore after his sparring partners in such aggressive fashion that they had a task to defend themselves, let alone punch back. Uhlman should make a hit, judging from his work in the gymnasium.

Tommy Milton of New York and Blas Rodriguez of Mexico worked out in preparation for their ten rounder, and the same was true of Armando Santiago and Al Foreman, who clash in the opening contest of ten rounds. All fighters will complete boxing preparation today. They will engage in light gymnasium workouts tomorrow.

Haakon Hansen, the Norwegian middleweight, and Wolcott Langford, local colored 160 pounder, are rounding into form for their ten round bout which will feature Migue Malloy's show at 74th and Aberdeen streets Monday night. This fight will be supported by four other contests between local favorites.

FIRST BIRD DOG TRIALS SLATED FOR NEXT MONTH

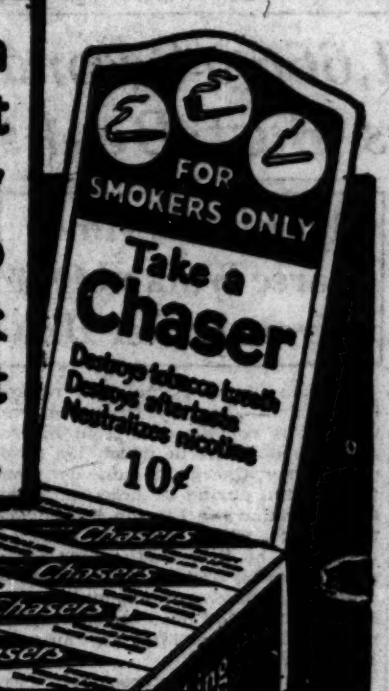

BY BOB BECKER.

Sporting dog enthusiasts who never have attended a field trial should pick out one of the many trials scheduled for the middle west this fall and spend a day or two at the event, as a few hours on side lines will give a fellow more dope on how a good dog should perform than he can find in a dozen books on the subject. Incidentally, if you have a darned good hunting dog there is no better way to test his qualities than to enter him in a trial. The Northern Indiana Field Trial club, a new but lively organization of pointer and setter enthusiasts, held its annual meeting a few nights ago to plan for its annual trials beginning Oct. 10 on the prairie near Bensenville, Ind. We expect to attend two springer and cocker spaniel trials this fall. First, the annual classic of the English Springer Spaniel Club of America to be staged Oct. 13, 14, and 15, on the Brewster, N. Y., estate of Erasmus T. Telft, the well known eastern sportsman, who is president of the club. Then in November comes the second annual trials of the Spaniel Club of America at Edgerton, Wis. According to Dean Swift, secretary of this organization, details of this event are now being worked out.

Small bubbles slide to base of beard

Penetrate between hairs better than big bubbles—

COLGATE'S "small-bubble" lather teems with water, because more bubbles mean more moisture. Furthermore, these midget bubbles seep right down to the beard-base, and douse it thoroughly, ready for the razor. See how by the lather pictures.

How "small-bubble" lather works

The moment Colgate lather forms on your beard, two things happen:

1. The soap in the lather breaks up and floats away the oil film that covers each hair.

2. With the oil film gone, millions of tiny, water-saturated bubbles bring and hold an abundance of water down to the base of the beard, right where the razor does its work.

Because your beard is properly softened at its base, your razor works easily and quickly. Every hair is cut close and clean. And your face remains cool and comfortable throughout the day.

A week's better shaves—Free

Once you try this unique "small-bubble" lather, we believe you will never go back to ordinary shaving methods. Prove this for yourself—at our expense. Just clip the coupon. We will send you a generous trial-size tube—free!

YANKEE FARMERS DECLARE KING'S PIGS ARE UGLIESTLook Over Farm Where George Raises Food.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Household economies of Great Britain's royal family were explained to the visiting American farmers today during a trip to a King George's model farm at Windsor, where the king gets milk, vegetables, chicken, and pork for the Buckingham palace dining room.

The farmers decided George V. owns and runs on the world's ugliest pigs, which are Yorkshire and their descendants. The king's expert farmers then piloted them around the garden, and also through the old-fashioned dairy which Victoria built in the early days.

The king takes great interest in his farm, the Americans learned, and although the little money out of it. Although the place is run on an economic basis and the surplus produce not needed for the royal table is sold to the general market, all the profits from such sales are required for keeping up the palace, buildings and equipment of the farm. The farmers also visited J. P. Morgan's farm at Woburn.

European royalty's customs, manners, tastes and traditions were drilled into the farmers also during their trip through Windsor castle state apartments, where the king and queen lodge their royal guests.

SQUARE INCH COST FOR RADIOGRAMS SEEN BY HARBORD

Radiograms at so much per square inch will be used by American businessmen within the next year to replace messages now sent by telegram at so much per word, according to Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America.

Gen. Harbord, who is making a survey of the principal radio centers of the United States, made this prediction when he spoke at a luncheon at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday.

"The transmission of pictures across the Atlantic has been in service for some time and is so successful," said the general, "that within a year the same system will be available in the United States. You can then send radiograms of your messages at so much per square inch or so much a page instead of having the messages broken up into dots and dashes and charged for at so much a word."

St. Ignace Loyola church was filled with hundreds of his friends to attend the funeral services yesterday for Patrick H. O'Donnell, well known criminal lawyer. The Rev. J. J. McGee, D.D., officiated at the requiem high mass in the presence of more than a score of priests. The eulogy was given by the Rev. J. J. McGee, D.D., professor of philosophy at Loyola university.

Leaders of Chicago's Chinese colony, whose champion the lawyer had often been, delegations from Irish societies, and from fraternal organizations of which he was a member accompanied the body from the residence to the church. Pallbearers were John H. Dillon, Thomas Nash, Leo Donohoe, Paul Vanden Berg, Jerome J. Crowley, and Oswald Schuetz. Interment was in the St. Ignace cemetery at Desplaines.

Mr. Haggerty was 34 and had been a student at DePaul university before his death. Besides his father, he is survived by his sisters Mary and Ann. Burial will be at Los Angeles.

Silvertown Orchestra on W-G-N Program Tonight

The Silvertown Orchestra back for another program tonight from W-G-N. This Chicago orchestra, which has been playing at the Drake hotel, between 9:30 and 10:30 o'clock, is the famous group whose past performances have been rated so highly by listeners. In addition to the jazz music there'll be songs by the Silver Marked Tones and a group of selections by the (Buddell Studio).

The Silvertown quartet, music by the W-G-N studio ensemble, and vocal soloists, will be heard again between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. The ensemble is composed of Armand Bulsant, violinist; Leon Lieberman, cellist; Herbert Johnson, pianist; and Frederick Metken, harmonium. Selections from operettas and classical music of the lighter type make up their program.

Lyon and Healy melody time will also be one of the headlines on tonight's program. This popular twenty-minute period of Hawaiian music will be heard between 10:40 and 11 o'clock, featuring the Washburn trio and Henry Dixon, premier ukelele player. The program will consist of Hawaiian melodies and some popular selections.

Unparalleled response to W-G-N's new feature, "Tomorrow's Tribune," is responsible for the change in time of this interesting ten-minute specialty during which listeners heard the news and ads which appear in the following morning's issue of the World's Greatest Newspaper. Starting tonight, "Tomorrow's Tribune" will be heard at 10 o'clock, while Sam 'n' Henry will be shifted back to 10:10 o'clock. Listeners will find the two boys just as enjoyable in their new spot.

An afternoon high light today will be the hour's program by Mac Sattley and his Merry-makers between 4 and 5 o'clock. Mac romped back from his vacation to present his afternoon show, which will feature Benny Kanter, the young song writing genius; Irwin Borg, one of Mac's vocal stars; and the pleasant team of Tommy May and Art Bismore. Melba Caldwell will also be heard in songs.

This afternoon's "Where Are You Going?" talk will consist of a description of the sights to be seen in "Riotous Washington." The talk has been prepared by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

An afternoon high light today will be the hour's program by Mac Sattley and his Merry-makers between 4 and 5 o'clock.

Mac romped back from his vacation to present his afternoon show, which will feature Benny Kanter, the young song writing genius; Irwin Borg, one of Mac's vocal stars; and the pleasant team of Tommy May and Art Bismore.

Melba Caldwell will also be heard in songs.

This afternoon's "Where Are You Going?" talk will consist of a description of the sights to be seen in "Riotous Washington."

The talk has been prepared by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

STARTWORK SOON ON NEW SCHOOL FOR EVANSTON

Work is scheduled to start next month on the new school building in Evanston to replace the school bearing the same name which burned down last January. The new structure will stand on the south side of Greenleaf street, between Sherman and Elmwood. As a part of its site the Evanston school trustees yesterday took title to three parcels at the southwest corner of Sherman and Greenleaf from three owners, Maria Coreri, William C. Mahley, and Henry Flisbach, paying the combined sum of $15,000.

Plans are now being prepared by Childs and Smith for the new school house which is expected to be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, 1928. The structure will be brick and stone, three stories high and will contain twenty-five classrooms. The cost is expected to be $400,000. When all purchases are made the school's site will front 330 feet on Greenleaf and 150 feet on Sherman and Elmwood.

Days Broadway Building

Eleanor Perbaker purchased from Benjamin Goldberg, Paul P. Center, and George Rosen the building at the northwest corner of Broadway and Robeson, containing seven stores and twenty-four apartments, lot 121167, subject to $125,000. While the price was not disclosed, it is reported it was $250,000. She gave in part payment the two stores and two flats at the northeast corner of Alden and Sheridan road, lot 121160, at an undisclosed price, subject to $70,000. Leonard Fried and Rieback & Burr were attorneys.

John C. Wilson traded the eight flats and four stores at 611-16 West 71st street, lot 121125, with Rudolph Schwab, for the fifteen apartment building at 68th and Sangamon. The first named is subject to an incumbrance of $50,750, and the latter to one of $42,745.

Fulton Street Deal

The Well-McLain company, plumbing and heating supplies, bought from William J. Chalmers the property at 710-30 West Fulton street, 120-120, improved by two one story high ceiling buildings for a stated $125,000. The purchasers will use the buildings as warehouses and a pipe shop. W. E. Haines of Alton and J. H. Haines of Chicago were brokers. Samuel Jacobson of Bloomington was attorney for the buyers. Lunt Gables, a nineteen apartment building at 1826 Lunt avenue, lot 562 172, has been sold by Schenck & Co. to Kirschner to Paul Krone for an undisclosed consideration, but subject to $12,000. Mr. Krone gave in part payment the three flats at 6445 Greenview, subject to $20,000. George J. Gross of Lincoln and H. H. Haines of Chicago were brokers. Ernest A. Ecklund was attorney.

Record August Sales

Reported by Hartman Co. President Martin L. Straus of the Hartman corporation announced yesterday that August sales were the largest for that month in the history of the company. Net sales of $1,744,454 were reported, a gain of 3.87 per cent over a year ago. Net sales for the year so far total $11,464,825.

Your Funds

may be invested with a remarkable degree of safety

In Gatzert Street Improvement Bonds because the security back of them is so well diversified. Hundreds of pieces of carefully selected property located in different cities safeguard your investment. The protecting tax lien on each property runs ahead of even first mortgages. Value is ten times the loan.

Exempt from all
Federal Income Taxes

The return on these Bonds is unusually good, investigate by studying coupon below for interest-bearing bonds. No salesmen will call.

CHICAGO STOCKS OPEN

WEEK'S TRADING WITH

BURST OF STRENGTH

Chicago stocks opened the week's trading with another burst of strength.

Stewart-Warner was the outstanding feature and advanced 3 1/2 to 4 1/2, the high for the movement, in response to the improvement in the company's position.

Morgan Lithograph was another feature, advancing 1 1/2 to 1 3/4. Auburn Automobile was strong, selling at a new high of 12 1/2 on the purchase of control by the company of the Lymington Motors corporation, which has heretofore manufactured the motors used by Auburn and several of its competitors. Auburn also has acquired Duesenberg, Inc., manufacturers of passenger and race cars, together with the Lymington Body company of Kalamazoo, Mich., manufacturers of automobile bodies. The controlling interest in these companies will be acquired without the issuance of any preferred stock or increase in the funded debt of the Auburn Automobile company. The stock was at the close and the net gain was 10 on the day.

Pair Store and Montgomery Ward also advanced 1/2 each and Sears-Roebuck was up 1/2. Borg & Beck was active, but closed unchanged at 7 1/2. On small scales, Diamond Match gained 1/2 points and Kellogg Switchboard and Supply was a point higher. Colgate was down a point.

The stock market at the close and the net gain was 10 on the day.

Mothers Wear Same Styles as Daughters, n' Same Sizes, Too

In creating styles, dress designers no longer consider the age of women. It is their proportions that are catered to in the ready-to-wear industry, according to a report by one of the big New York coat manufacturers.

Ten years ago women still had age. The stylist had to prepare different models for different years. Today mother and daughter may be found any time in the junior department supplementing their wardrobes from the same racks.

The miss, like her parent, wants clothes of an age that in another day would have been considered not here at all. The 13, 15 and 17 styles, which formerly resembled a slightly advanced conception of the models for all younger girls, now have to present an air of sophisticated maturity. The production of junior garments, as such, is virtually at an end. In their place you find the product described as appropriate for the small woman and the junior. All women of less than average height and of slender build come under the small women classification.

With the abbreviated skirts, however, taller women are able to meet on this popular camping ground, the misses' department.

Numbers, of course, are designed for those of ample figure, and still other creations are turned out for the regular sizes—but the designer of every age in woman's clothes has to go on the assumption that all American women are young. They refuse to look anything but as young as possible; they refuse to surrender the carriage and aspect of youth, regardless of their years.

The conservative, colorless, matronly garment of accented years has no demand whatever. The sprightly charm of youth has to appear in coat or frock, or women will not favor them.

"Judicious merchandisers know that to provide a middle-aged patron with a garment that gives her something akin to girlish grace it to earn that customer's everlasting good will for the store," a merchant says.

To which last comment we append a devout "amen."

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

My Gladie's Bonnet

"That Cost a Lot of Money."

"Now see what you've done, Jennie! You've broken your doll's head, and it will cost me three or four dollars to get a new one."

"No, you can't throw your doll in here—you'll be sure to break the little figurines—and they cost your father a great deal of money."

"No, baby, you can't roll those peaches around. They cost Mother a lot of money."

"Look at that elephant, Jimmy—you've just ruined him trying to give him a bath—and I paid so much for him."

"No, Richard, you can't use that chicken wire—it cost Father over three dollars, just what's there."

"O, now you've gotten point on the tablecloth, Mary, and it's the most expensive cloth I have."

"Be careful when you dry those goblets—they're really costly, Jack."

All perfectly true. But nevertheless, all of them the wrong reaction to the accident, because in every case the emphasis was put on the money aspect of the thing. Naturally that enters into nearly everything but it's best not to make it most important to the children. Eventually they will learn how closely money is allied with almost everything we do. But don't thrust that knowledge upon them so early that they will over-value money. There is enough emphasis put on money as it is.

In every one of these instances there was a perfectly legitimate reason other than money why the articles in question ought not to have been damaged—or why one should feel sorry if they were.

The little girl loved her doll dearly and it nearly broke her heart when the accident happened.

The figures on the mantel were very beautiful.

The elephant was spoiled and the little boy lost the only toy he had with him.

The peaches were needed for lunch—and, anyhow, food shouldn't be wasted on principle.

The boy was a careless worker and would have been spoiled at any cost.

All of these are perfectly valid reasons more important, as far as the child is concerned, than the cost. Whenever you can, mention the money reason last of all.

Absent Minded.

My most embarrassing moment took place last week. While riding in a crowded elevator I was trying to recall what day of the week it was. So, when it came time to announce the floor at which I wanted to get off, instead of saying "Fourteen," I yelled, "Thursday."

I was so overcome with embarrassment that I alighted at the next stop.

He Kept Count.

My small brother was eating supper with us, a woman guest being seated next to him at the table. After several passages of the plate of hot, home-made blintzes, a guest remarked, as she took another, "Why, I don't know how many I have eaten!"

Whereat the small brother hurried to say, "I do—you've eaten eight. I've been counting!"

Offer of Gas Range.

"I have a gas range which I no longer need. Perhaps one of your readers could make use of it."

"Mrs. M. F."

Is your stove beginning to look pretty shabby? And is the oven burning not just right? Here's an opportunity to replace it.

Appeal for Clothing.

"If you have of anyone who has some clothing to give away, please, would you let us know? It is time to start to school again and we need shoes and clothes. My father has been sick and for three months he didn't work and now his salary is so small we can't buy the things we need. He wears clothing, size 38, and shoes, 7 or 8. My brother is 13 and wears shoes, size 7. E. K."

This is just one of the many pleas which have come to us from children who haven't sufficient clothing to return to school. The shoes your children are outgrowing could be repaired and the little dresses and suits mended to take care of them comfortably for the winter.

PATTERNS BY CLOTHIDE

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

The collarless neckline of this smart dress is finished with an applied band that extends to the waistline at the center front, and a wash drawn tightly around the normal waistline creates a slight blousing, while the well pressed plaits across the front flare gracefully when in motion. Sheer crepe printed in lacquer red, black and white, short pink flat silk crepe, printed voile, or sheer georgette crepe in this shade or Nile green are also suggestions.

The pattern, 3099, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 20, 22, 24, and 26 inches bust measure. Size 24 requires 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material and 1 1/2 yards of binding.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Broiled Salt Pork.

When you have a fine big stuffed potato seasoned with cream and butter and cheese, it makes almost a meal in itself. But it is nice to have on the side some bit of green vegetable and perhaps some bit of meat. We use bacon in so many ways as it is, and because the little rasher is a small piece we need to have some alternate for it, and perhaps one of the best alternate, if we know how to use it successfully, is salt pork. Salt pork is so exceedingly hateful unless the weathered edges are cut off as well as the pork rind, and surfaces covered with a coarse salt, that it must be prepared with great nicety or we could not recommend it for such a service as we have mentioned. In going through an old cook book the other day, we found the following recipe for broiled salt pork which we tried and served with the stuffed baked potato, so that we know how agreeable two or three bits of it may be.

"Broiled salt pork: Slice the pork and broil over a hot bit of coal, turning frequently. Have ready a bowl of cold water and at each turning dip the slices in the water. This will freshen the pork sufficiently, and at the same time give a certain crispness. The last time omit the water and let the pork brown slowly. Serve on a platter with bits of butter or drawn butter poured around the meat." We omitted the butter and did the broiling under gas. Just as in cooking rashers of bacon we turn the bacon over and over, so in broiling this pork perhaps the best way to do is to turn it five or six times, dipping it each time in cold water. Perhaps we could pan broil it but we didn't try on this occasion so do it.

For camp cooking and for easy home cooking, which is on the whole too much exploited today, we recommend the staple salt pork. The fat of it is excellent for pan fried or camp fried potatoes. These have many other names and can be cooked over almost any sort of fire if well covered and the fire moderate. They are the nearest substitute for French fried potatoes and a little broiled salt pork would be acceptable with them. They must not be browned too rapidly so that they are turned too soon, but they can be browned deliciously on one side, then turned with a heavy spatula and cooked on the other. A cover over the pan is worth while part of the time to keep them from drying up, but on the other hand it must not be kept over them too long because they will not be so well browned and will be a little too much steamed instead of fried.

When Sunday morning she awoke before her father was up. Rushing over to his bed, she called excitedly, "Daddy, daddy, you better get right up, didn't you know that you're wasting daylight?"

A party of women were admiring a photograph of Jimmy's baby cousin. Jimmy, five years old, tired of hearing the baby's praises, finally brought out a picture of himself taken when a baby and said: "That's how I looked when I was young."

"Why, Nellie," I said, in a shocked voice, "you were never in the air in your life."

"Gracious, mamma! Have you forgotten when the stork brought me?"

Feel Older Than You Should?

When Kidneys Act Sluggishly Waste Impurities * Make One Dull and Listless.

Do you wonder why you are so lame, stiff and aching—why you feel so much older and slower than you should? Are you sure your kidneys are functioning properly? The kidneys are the blood filters. If their action becomes sluggish, they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous waste. This tends to make one tired and aching, with often nagging backaches, headaches, and dizziness. That the kidneys aren't functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning secretions.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them by using a tested diuretic. Doan's Pills have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have established a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

"Doan's Pills are agents which increase the secretion of the kidneys."—Encyclopedia definition.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moments of My Life." Address: Embarrassing Moments, Tribune Building, 435 N. Dearborn St., Chicago. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

One four year old little boy was very much interested when daylight saving time went into effect this year, and her father explained it fully to her.

Last Sunday morning she awoke before her father was up. Rushing over to his bed, she called excitedly, "Daddy, daddy, you better get right up, didn't you know that you're wasting daylight?"

A party of women were admiring a photograph of Jimmy's baby cousin. Jimmy, five years old, tired of hearing the baby's praises, finally brought out a picture of himself taken when a baby and said: "That's how I looked when I was young."

"Why, Nellie," I said, in a shocked voice, "you were never in the air in your life."

"Gracious, mamma! Have you forgotten when the stork brought me?"
